F o r e w o r d . . .

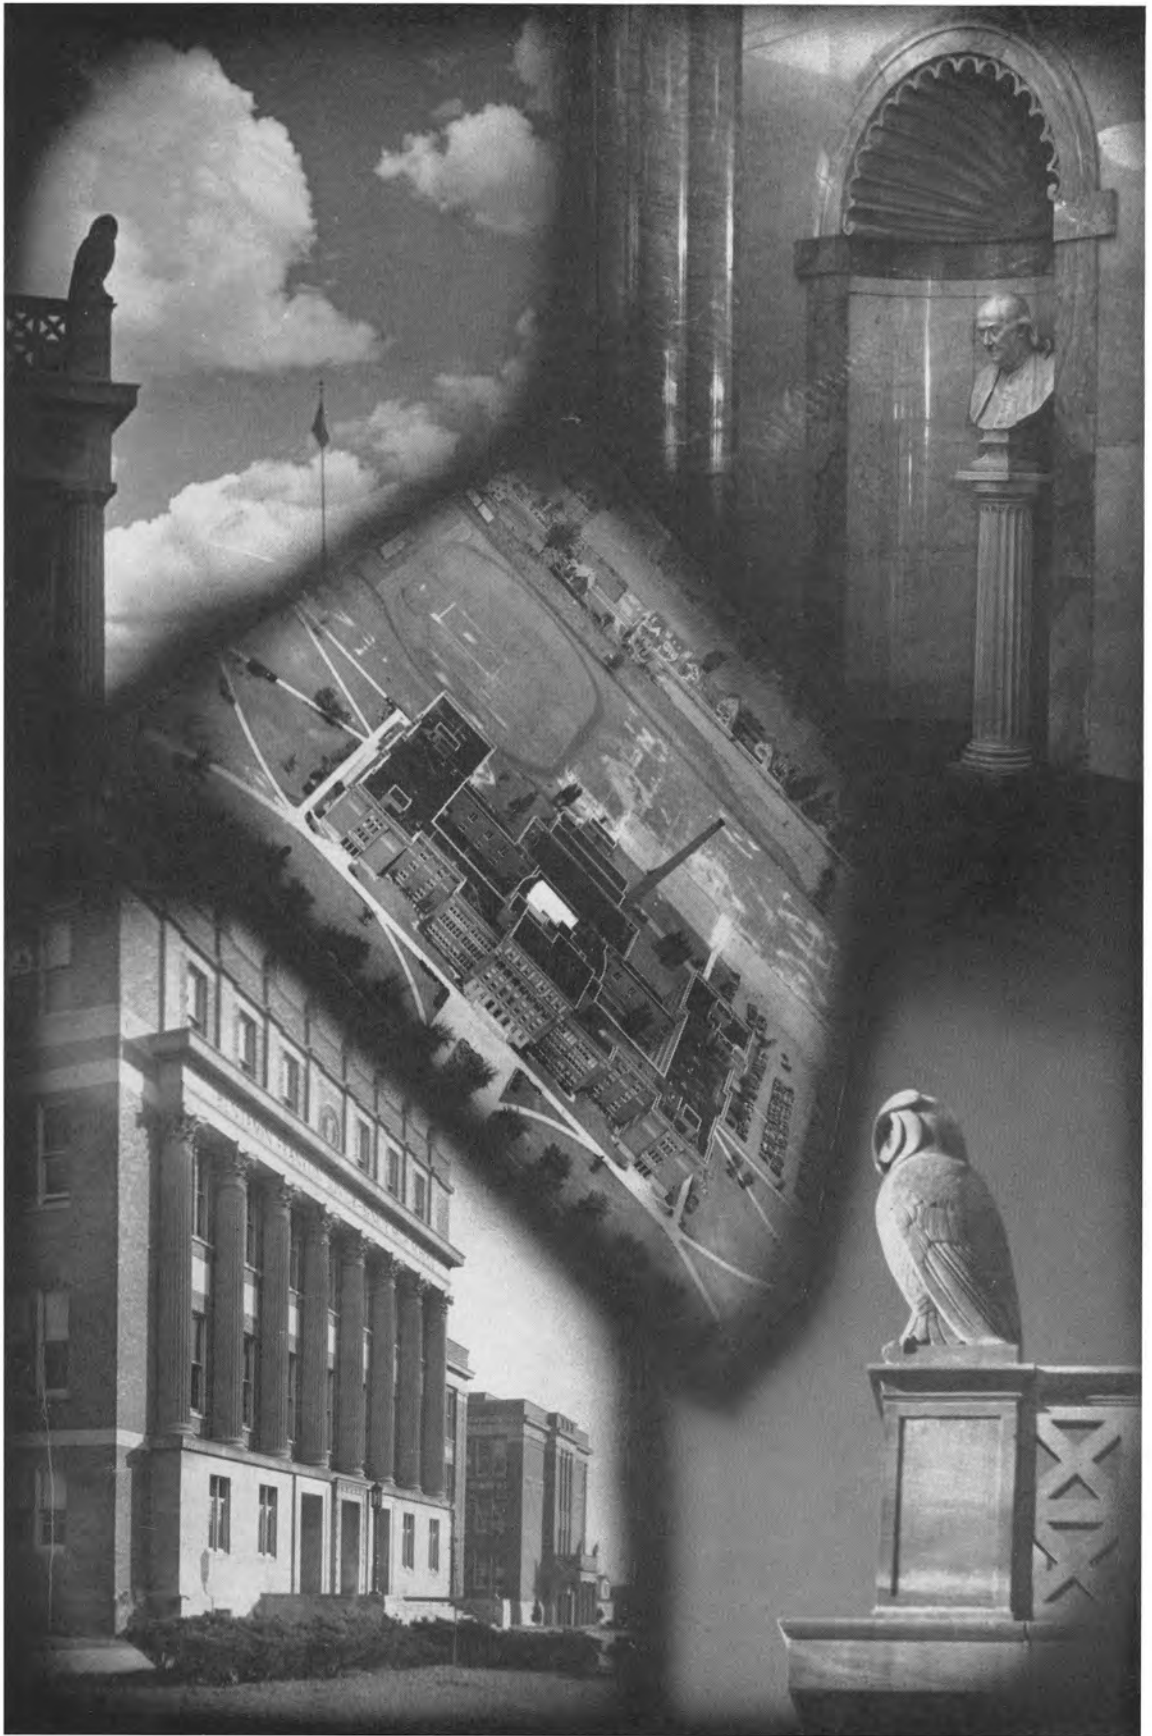

Too often a theme obscures the true purpose of a senior annual—to present a resume of the year's activities and events. For this reason the Key staff for 1941 has made this very purpose its theme. So far as budget and space limitations have permitted, we have endeavored to present a story, by picture and by writeup, of our last year at Franklin. Many interesting topics have necessarily been incompletely recorded, particularly that event which is the greatest in our history, the merger of Washington and Franklin. We hope, however, you will like what we have been able to do, and that our annual will become increasingly valuable to you through the years.

One feature in particular should receive special mention. From time to time you will meet our old patron, Benjamin Franklin, as he comes to look us over in order to discover how well we are measuring up to the good old democratic ideals for which he stood so firmly in the past.

As he appears now and then with his guide, Ben Franklin, Jr., offering words of wisdom to the inexperienced youth of present America, it is our hope he will find in this summary of our last year at Franklin that the school in general and our class in particular are not wanting in the democratic spirit. Students of Franklin High School, we present Benjamin Franklin and Ben Franklin, Jr.!

WASHINGTON — FRANKLIN

A Greater School

The most dramatic single event in Rochester school history was the discontinuance of Washington High School, to make room for the transfer of Edison Technical High School into the Washington building.

Edison had for several years been situated in the Bausch and Lomb factory on St. Paul and Lowell Streets. Word came last year, however, that this building had to be vacated, because of the proposed expansion of the company. The question immediately arose as to where the Edison pupils should be housed, and the Board of Education decided that the Washington High building was the most suitable.

It was decided that the pupils of Washington should be distributed between East High and Franklin. Approximately fourteen hundred pupils were placed in this school, and the remaining, with a few exceptions, were placed at East High. Forty-eight members of the faculty of Washington also came to Franklin, along with Mr. George Eddy, former principal of Washington, who is now associate principal of Franklin. Miss Mary Sheehan, who was formerly vice-principal of Washington, is now head of the department of social studies, and also second vice-principal of Monroe High School. Mrs. Meta Steinhausen is now girls' adviser for the junior classes at Franklin; Mr. Royal Sweet, former boys' adviser at Washington, now holds the same position at Edison Technical High School; and Miss Nellie Bitz is director of extra-curricular activities at Franklin.

The pupils and the faculty of Washington had to accustom themselves to the new conditions of a strange school. The members of the school community of Franklin faced many difficulties in making a place in the routine for this large new group. All are to be commended for the splendid work they have done. They entered into the situation with hearty good will, with the result that both these great schools have become one still greater school, with both faculties and both student bodies unitedly striving toward common ends.

"To me, Benny, the merging of two rival high schools suggests the union of the thirteen colonies of my day. Each desired to retain its own individuality, clinging to old traditions and rights. Gradually, however, as the new Americans lived and worked together, the benefits of unification became increasingly evident. A strong, compact union which proved its ability to meet and overcome all obstacles, was moulded. So, Benny, will it be with that fine school of yours that bears my name. Differences will be forgotten and new heights attained, far surpassing those reached by either school in the past."

"Well, sir, we think ourselves that this combination is tops! Washington brought to Franklin its famous spirit of "Do in Co-operation." Franklin already had its practical democracy, something you won't find in so many schools. Why, after we got together we even made the pages of a nationally known picture magazine. What's more, we copped the soccer and basketball championships. With your great ideals before us, Mr. Franklin, you can bet we'll keep on building a greater and better school."

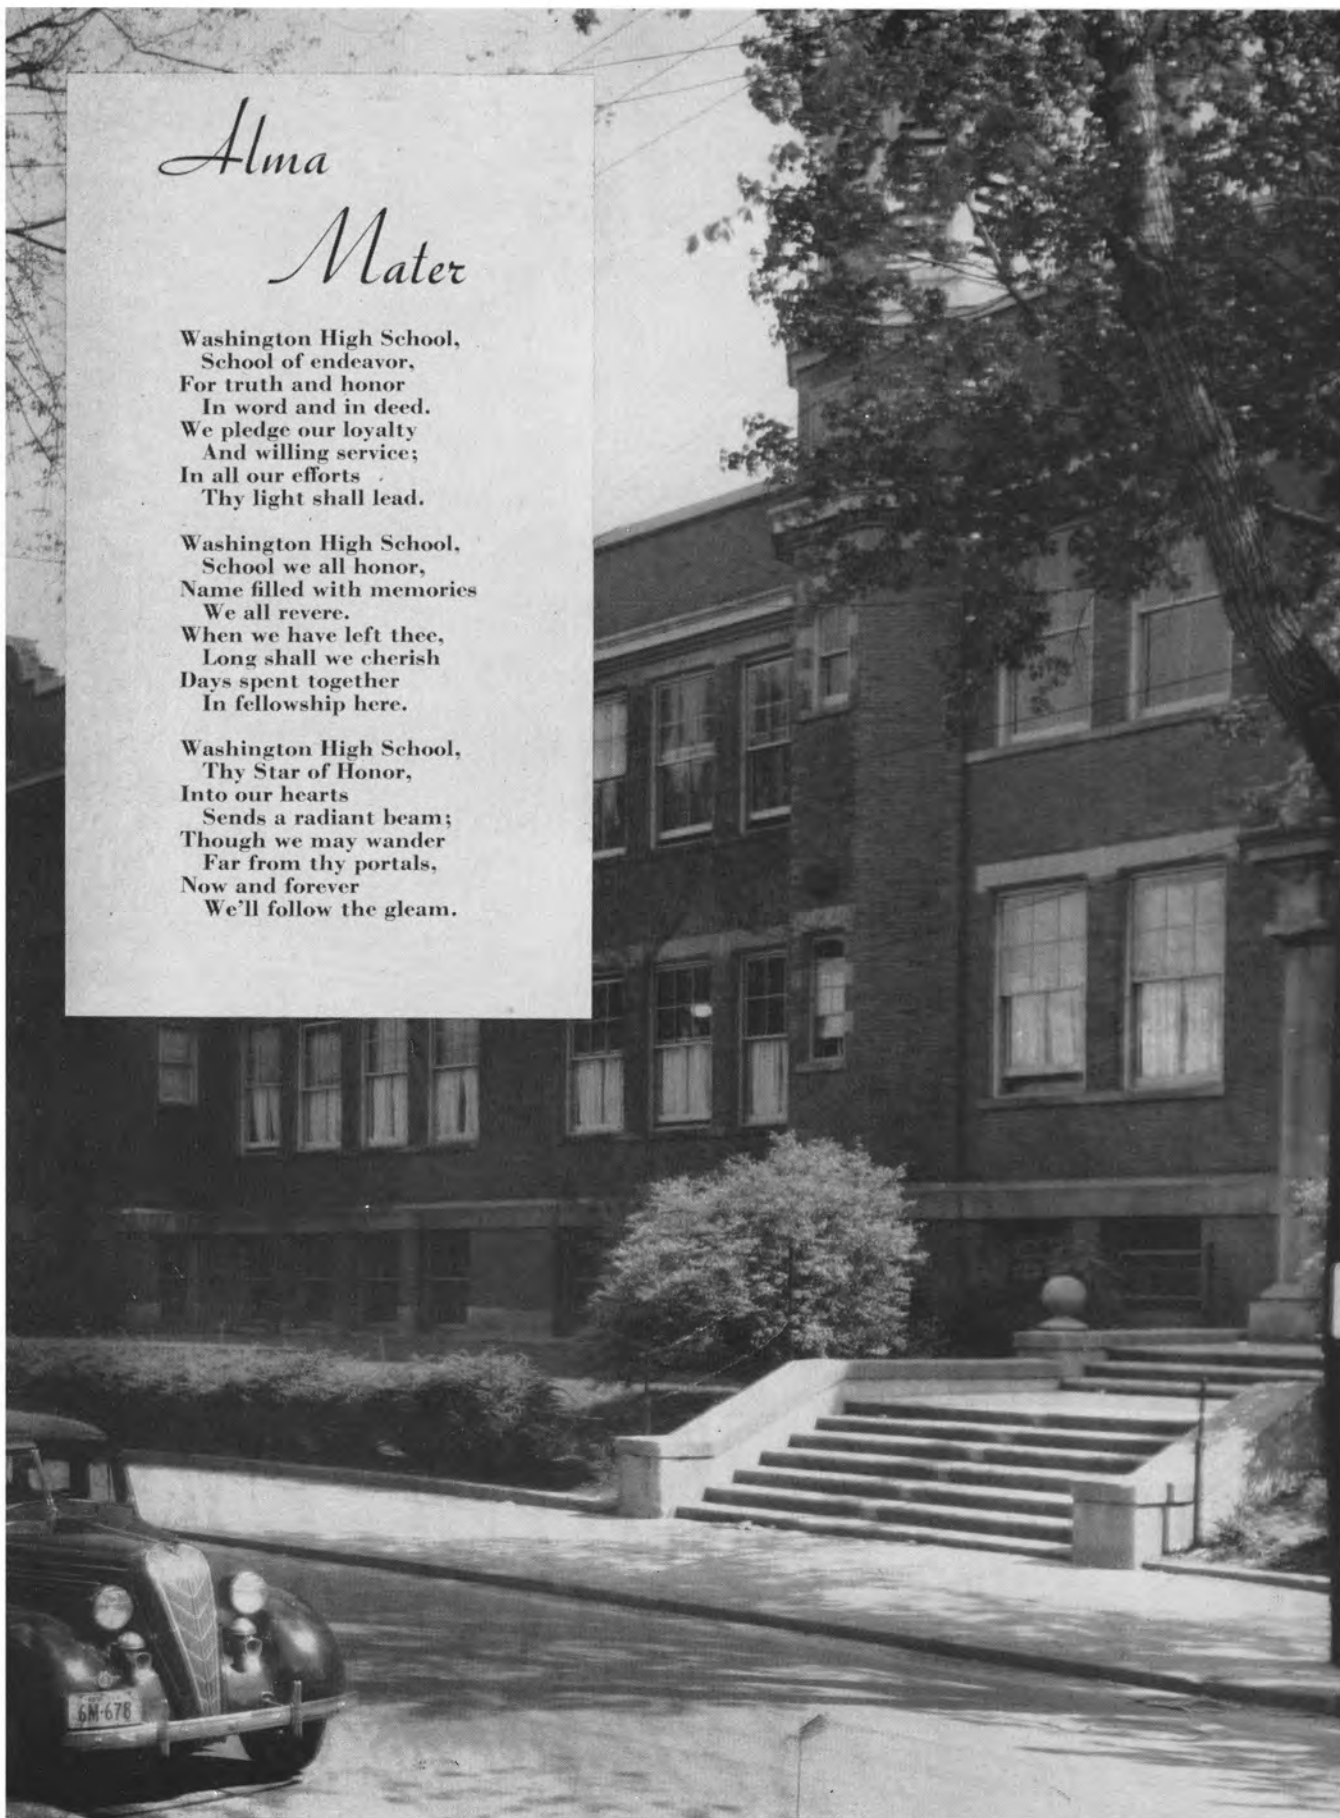

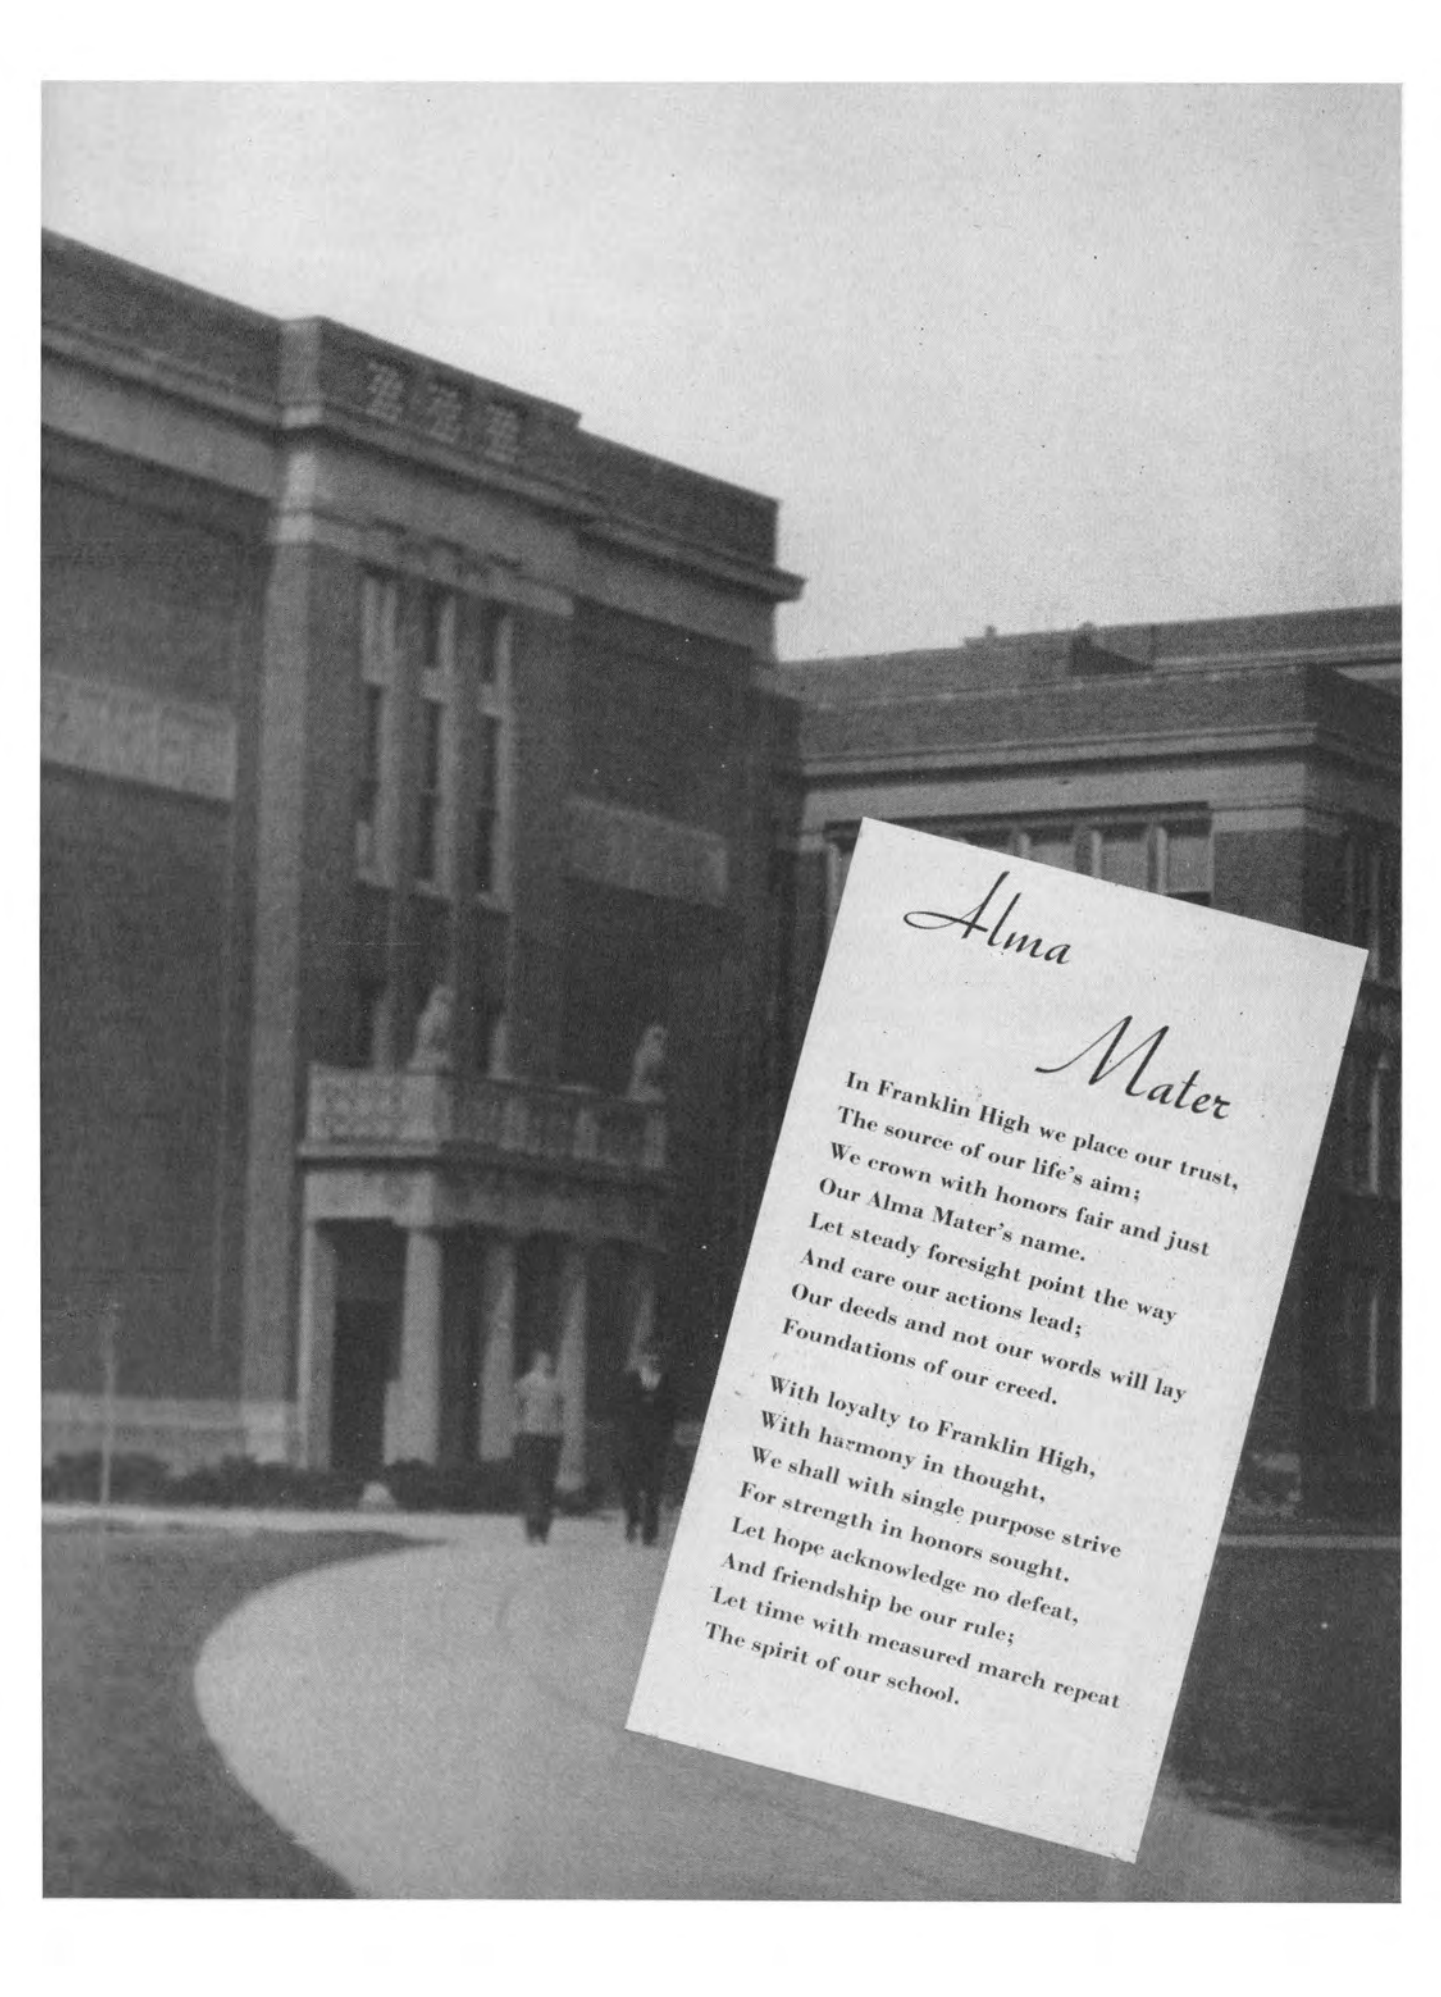

Alma Mater

Washington High School,
School of endeavor,
For truth and honor
In word and in deed.
We pledge our loyalty
And willing service;
In all our efforts
Thy light shall lead.

Washington High School,
School we all honor,
Name filled with memories
We all revere.
When we have left thee,
Long shall we cherish
Days spent together
In fellowship here.

Washington High School,
Thy Star of Honor,
Into our hearts
Sends a radiant beam;
Though we may wander
Far from thy portals,
Now and forever
We'll follow the gleam.

Alma Mater

In Franklin High we place our trust,
The source of our life's aim;
We crown with honors fair and just
Our Alma Mater's name.
Let steady foresight point the way
And care our actions lead;
Our deeds and not our words will lay
Foundations of our creed.

With loyalty to Franklin High,
With harmony in thought,
We shall with single purpose strive
For strength in honors sought.
Let hope acknowledge no defeat,
And friendship be our rule;
Let time with measured march repeat
The spirit of our school.

ROY L. BUTTERFIELD

Principal

ROY L. BUTTERFIELD

Roy Lyman Butterfield, principal of Franklin High School, is regarded by the student body as a most sympathetic and understanding friend. The door to his office is always open. In spite of his numerous activities and responsibilities in educational fields both in his own school and outside, he has time to study and solve, if possible, the problems brought to him. For his wisdom, his guidance, and his unending patience, the Class of 1941 is grateful. In that broader life into which we shall soon enter, his high ideals will ever stand before us as a goal toward which to strive.

GEORGE E. EDDY

Those who knew Mr. Eddy as principal of Washington High School respected him for his wisdom in guidance, his warm friendliness, and his sincerity in coping with the countless personal problems which were daily brought to him both by students and the members of the faculty. Mr. Eddy has always shown a genuine interest in individual students, and recognized their unique needs and problems. As associate principal of Franklin, he has already found a place in which new found friends have come to know and love him, as he was known and loved at Washington.

WILLARD A. SABIN

In the three years that we have known him as our vice-principal, we have found Mr. Willard A. Sabin to be more than just a school executive. In making our problems his problems, he has gained the affection of every student. Words alone cannot convey our sincere appreciation of his geniality, sympathetic understanding, and never failing kindness. His inspiration will go with us, helping us to meet new problems, and giving us an ever deepening realization of things worth-while.

FACULTY...

The high school age is the period during which the character of youth is moulded. Expert guidance is needed to prepare a student to accept courageously the inevitable ordeals which he must face when he has left his sheltered school life. No one, we believe, could be better qualified to attempt the fashioning of our lives in the direction of moral and intellectual excellence than the teachers of our own school.

Our faculty have alternately reprimanded and praised us, but always with an understanding awareness of our needs, together with a sympathetic encouragement which has been of inestimable value to each individual student.

In sincere appreciation of their help and patience, we, the Senior Class of 1941, take this opportunity to thank our teachers, and to say that they will always be held by us in grateful and affectionate regard.

The School at Work

Classroom education is no longer an ordeal of books, pencils, and paper. Our schools make it possible for students to enjoy themselves thoroughly while pursuing the courses of their choice whether they deal with academic study, commercial work, or shop activity.

The Varied Services Our Faculty

Artistic Endeavor by Karl Sommer

Picturesque displays, prize - winning posters, and eye-catching commercial signs are some of the accomplishments of Franklin students. Under the supervision of our art department, Franklin students contribute much of the outstanding work of the Rochester schools.

A large variety of plants and flowers is grown throughout the school year by the Bios Club. The fine greenhouse on the roof provides the club members with splendid opportunities to learn and to do.

Have Been Rendering in Class

"He who hath a trade hath an estate."

Above is a picture of the beautifully decorated room of the Honor Craft Guild. This room is unique in that everything within its four walls, fixtures, decorations, and furniture, is the product of ambitious Craft Guild members. The room is put to good use, both as a meeting hall and as a place for recreation.

The twentieth induction of the National Honor Society was truly a beautiful and inspiring ceremony. With the house lights dimmed over a hushed audience, the successful candidates slowly marched down the aisles to the accompaniment of soft strains from the orchestra. After the four cardinal objectives were presented in a series of short addresses, the candidates coming forward lighted their candles in symbolic portrayal of the carrying on of the torch of knowledge.

Jobs For Seniors

Guidance

A successful transition from the elementary school to the high school is difficult to achieve. The guidance counselors of Franklin, Miss Frances Stewart and Mr. Arthur Bates, assist new students in choosing courses suited to their individual capacities and interests. They also attempt to orientate incoming pupils to the school routine. Individual educational adjustments which need to be made later on through the high school course are also studied by the counselors.

Seniors interested in college or training school work or in search of information about available jobs, may find printed material, catalogues, and files in the guidance offices.

It is the custom in Franklin for each class to work under one guidance counselor throughout its course. Mr. Bates has performed this service for us. For his wise counsel and his untiring efforts in our behalf we are sincerely grateful. It has been a privilege to know him.

One of the means used to aid in "job getting" this year has been the program of forums that bring together seniors and their parents to discuss occupational placements and plans for further training. Industrial and educational leaders are invited to speak on these subjects and to lead in discussion following. The picture shown above was taken at one of the meetings which was well attended by seniors and their parents. These forums have been of great value not only to our prospective graduates, but also to the community in general.

Senior Council

Standard Bearers and Custodians of the Flag

One of the difficulties resulting from the unification of Washington and Franklin was that of appointing the standard bearers and custodians of the flag. There were now two exceptionally fine students deserving each of these cherished honors. A most satisfactory solution was reached when all four were appointed, each to hold office for one semester.

CHARLIE COLBURN'S clicking camera continually catches candid cuts. Canny, capable Charlie (carefully catching capacity, cheering crowd; competent, celebrated cameraman; calisthenic class; and campus ceremonies . . . our country's colors) captures congratulatory comments from critical colleagues.

(1) Today—more than ever.

(2) Eliot Elisofon and Roger Butterfield visit Franklin as representatives of LIFE to study our democracy.

(3) This is not a stick-up.

(4) Franklin rooters cheer the team to a sectional championship!

They say that the owl won't tell;
 Bennie Frank says his silence is swell;
 For if that bird revealed
 What is better concealed,
 Young Bennie would not be—oh, well.

The dances at Franklin are fun,
 They keep everyone on the run;
 For not to attend
 Would be like an end
 To all of our school days' fun.

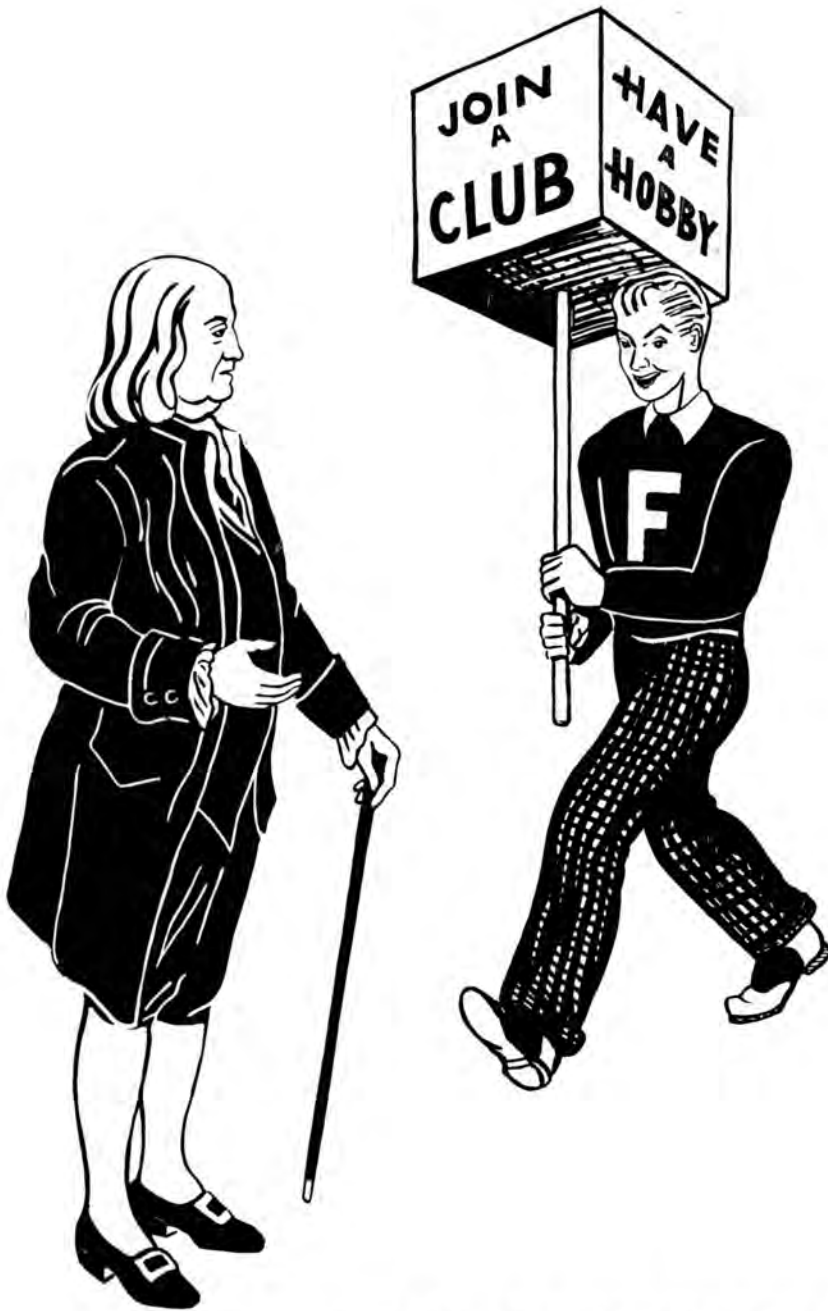

The sports at Franklin are many,
 Says our watchful little Benny.
 Broad-jumping is one
 That the boys do for fun,
 And some think it's the best sport of any.

Every day at the bell crowds he'll brave;
 Poor Bennie's so crushed that he'll rave;
 Between gasps he'll groan,
 "Only Garbo's alone,
 But I'll only find quiet in my grave."

ACTIVITIES

Activities . . . in Retrospect

"Sloth makes all things difficult, but industry makes all things easy."

test. A midway was built on the fine athletic field, and Franklin's big band thrilled the crowd with its fine music and marching maneuvers. Following two hours of dancing the faculty provided the amusement of the evening by presenting several humorous skits in the auditorium. This gala affair showed what can be done in a school through co-operation.

It is our belief that the strength of our autonomy lies in the many clubs, societies, and groups that make up our extra-curricular program. We feel that these organizations, many of which are seldom mentioned, are deserving of great praise, for each in its own quiet way accomplishes a real service.

The National Honor Society exemplifies the true democratic spirit that prevails in Franklin. As sponsor of the only tutoring service of its kind in Rochester, this group offers aid to less fortunate students who for one reason or another find themselves on the verge of failing. The only reward any member expects for his effort is the satisfaction of knowing that he has helped a fellow student to win his diploma. Guide service is a second activity under the supervision of this society. The work consists chiefly in delivering messages and in the directing of visitors through our spacious building.

To Franklinites the B. F. Club and the Lost and Found Department are synonymous. Always on the job, its members are continually serving the school by taking charge of lost articles and returning them to their anxious owners.

Any attempt to jaywalk or cross the street against a red light is followed by failure, for Franklin has a highly efficient Traffic Squad capable of assuming its important responsibilities. This group is deserving of praise for its members are always at their posts in rain, snow, or sunny weather, guarding the lives of their fellow students.

The duties of the corridor aides are many, the rewards few. Largely responsible for the quiet, orderly halls, the corridor aides perform an indispensable work in the life of Franklin.

Few of us realize that much of the assembly music is furnished by the Junior Band and Orchestra. The duties of the members do not end at the close of school, since outside practice is required. These groups meet three times a week with Mr. Benjamin Scammel and diligently rehearse in order that they may some day become members of the senior instrumental organizations.

Space does not allow a detailed account of the many more activities which daily function in Franklin, but it is only because of these unselfish contributions from the student body that Franklin's democracy has reached its present level of success; a democracy that was lauded recently in a popular magazine and thereby gained national recognition.

It is our fervent hope as we pass our duties on to those who follow, that they will participate loyally in student organizations, since a government of, by, and for the people, whether it be a school or nation, can survive only through the common interest of all its citizens.

Within the four walls of Franklin is found a great community of individuals who daily work and play together. Since the following pages can not record all that has taken place among them during the past year, this page will serve as a permanent reminder of some things that might otherwise be forgotten. We shall try also to point out some of the events of highest interest.

Vaudeville at its finest characterized this year's Variety Show. The best of Franklin's talent appeared in the twenty-two acts that comprised the program, but even the splendid entertainment was surpassed by its purpose, for all the proceeds were donated to the Memorial Scholarship Fund. The student body co-operated fully and filled the spacious auditorium to overflowing, thereby making the drive an outstanding success.

The month of May brings to our school the perennial favorite of all true Franklinites—Franklin Day. Last spring's extravaganza provided refreshments and continuous entertainment for all that attended. In the afternoon there were spectators at all of the sports attractions—the baseball game, the track meet, the tennis matches, and the horseshoe pitching con-

Executive Council . . .

The minutes stand approved as read

The Executive Council is the guiding influence of the Student Association of Franklin High School. Composed of the school officers and six representatives chosen from the tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grades, and two from the eighth and ninth grades, this organization discusses new problems and ideas and offers recommendations to the Junta for adoption or rejection. Mr. Butterfield, Mr. Sabin, and four members of the faculty serve the Council in an advisory capacity. The supervision and control of student activities and organizations, the appropriation of money, and the granting of awards are a few of its varied functions. The Executive Council is an important, well-functioning cog in the machinery of Benjamin Franklin High School.

Junto

The Junto is Franklin High School's legislative assembly. It consists of two representatives from each homeroom with a number of faculty advisers and acts on measures previously suggested in the Executive Council and also on those suggestions and motions presented during its own meetings.

National Honor Society

The constitution of the National Honor Society recognizes four cardinal objectives as fundamental in all educational practice: Scholarship, Character, Leadership, and Service. The aim of the society is to exalt these objectives and to hold them ever before the school as goals toward which to strive. The organization carries on its work under the guidance of Mrs. Hall and Miss Martens.

19 KEYS have now been published. The present issue is our contribution to that long record of people and events. Many months before the date of publication the editors (1) planned the "dummy" with the thought that the Key should be a thorough presentation of daily life at Franklin.

When the members of the many staffs were chosen, work began in earnest. The senior section committee (7), facing a tremendous task, recorded the activities for each one of our seven hundred and thirty-nine seniors. They worked late on many afternoons until their job was done. The records of clubs and teams and the written accounts of extra-curricular activities were compiled by the organization staff (2). They will not forget the "skull sessions" in which they wrote and rewrote and rewrote again in an effort to present their stories to us in as effective a manner as possible. Our efficient, smiling typists labored zealously to assemble and check the written material. To register and plan photographs (4) was a large task. The individual photography staff arranged for many, many appointments and the senior pages could not have been complete without their work. The odor of rubber cement will be long remembered by the paste-up committee. With sticky fingers they put the seven hundred and thirty-nine senior pictures in place and insured their identification. The combined work of the feature and art staffs (6) speaks for itself.

The KEY was "sold" to the students of Franklin when the publicity staff (3) appeared on the stage in assembly programs and informed us what the book would be like. The circulation managers, with their staff of about sixty-five, canvassed prospective KEY owners and saw to it that everyone received an opportunity to buy. To the business men of Rochester went the people of the advertising staff (5). They brought in the "ads" and then the KEY was on the road to publication.

Finally, we wish to express sincere appreciation to Miss Catherine Sheehan and Mr. Emil Maurer for their splendid leadership in the feature section and art work, to Mr. Charles Colburn for his excellent photographs, and to Miss Blanche Thompson, head of the English department, for her generous aid and counsel throughout. The beautiful frontispiece is from a photograph taken by Eugene Nowak of the Class of June, 1939.

Senior Play . . .

"Stage Door" was ideal for our large class in that, with the thirty-two different persons required for the cast alone, besides those needed for work back of the scenes, it gave opportunity for a large number of the group to participate. The play was unusual in the great preponderance of girls in its cast. The production was fully successful, and, we believe, maintained the high standards set by Erle Remington in the past.

Admittance to the Circolo Dante is attained by scholastic achievement in the study of the Italian language. The object of this organization, sponsored by Miss Rizzo, is not only to increase this scholastic achievement, but also to provide opportunity for cultural and social pursuits. The meetings are conducted in Italian, and members are given opportunity to acquaint themselves with Italian songs, dances, and legends.

Those pupils in commercial subjects that excel in scholarship and personal integrity are given recognition for their endeavors by admittance into this honor society. Membership in this organization is the ambition of every commercial student. Mrs. Young is the capable leader of this group which holds two meetings a month throughout the school year.

The Craft Guild is Franklin High's honor society for those students that have achieved excellence in technical work. Modelled after the trade guilds of the Middle Ages, its meetings and rituals are conducted according to ancient traditions. One of the Guild's most valued possessions is its meeting room which is decorated and built in the style of the medieval guild hall. The society conducts an annual sale at which articles made by its members are sold to the general public.

The German Honor Society, under the guidance of Miss Marion Laley, has been re-established in order to promote personal interest in German literature and an appreciation of democratic ideals and institutions. High ranking students, both of present and past classes, are admitted to membership.

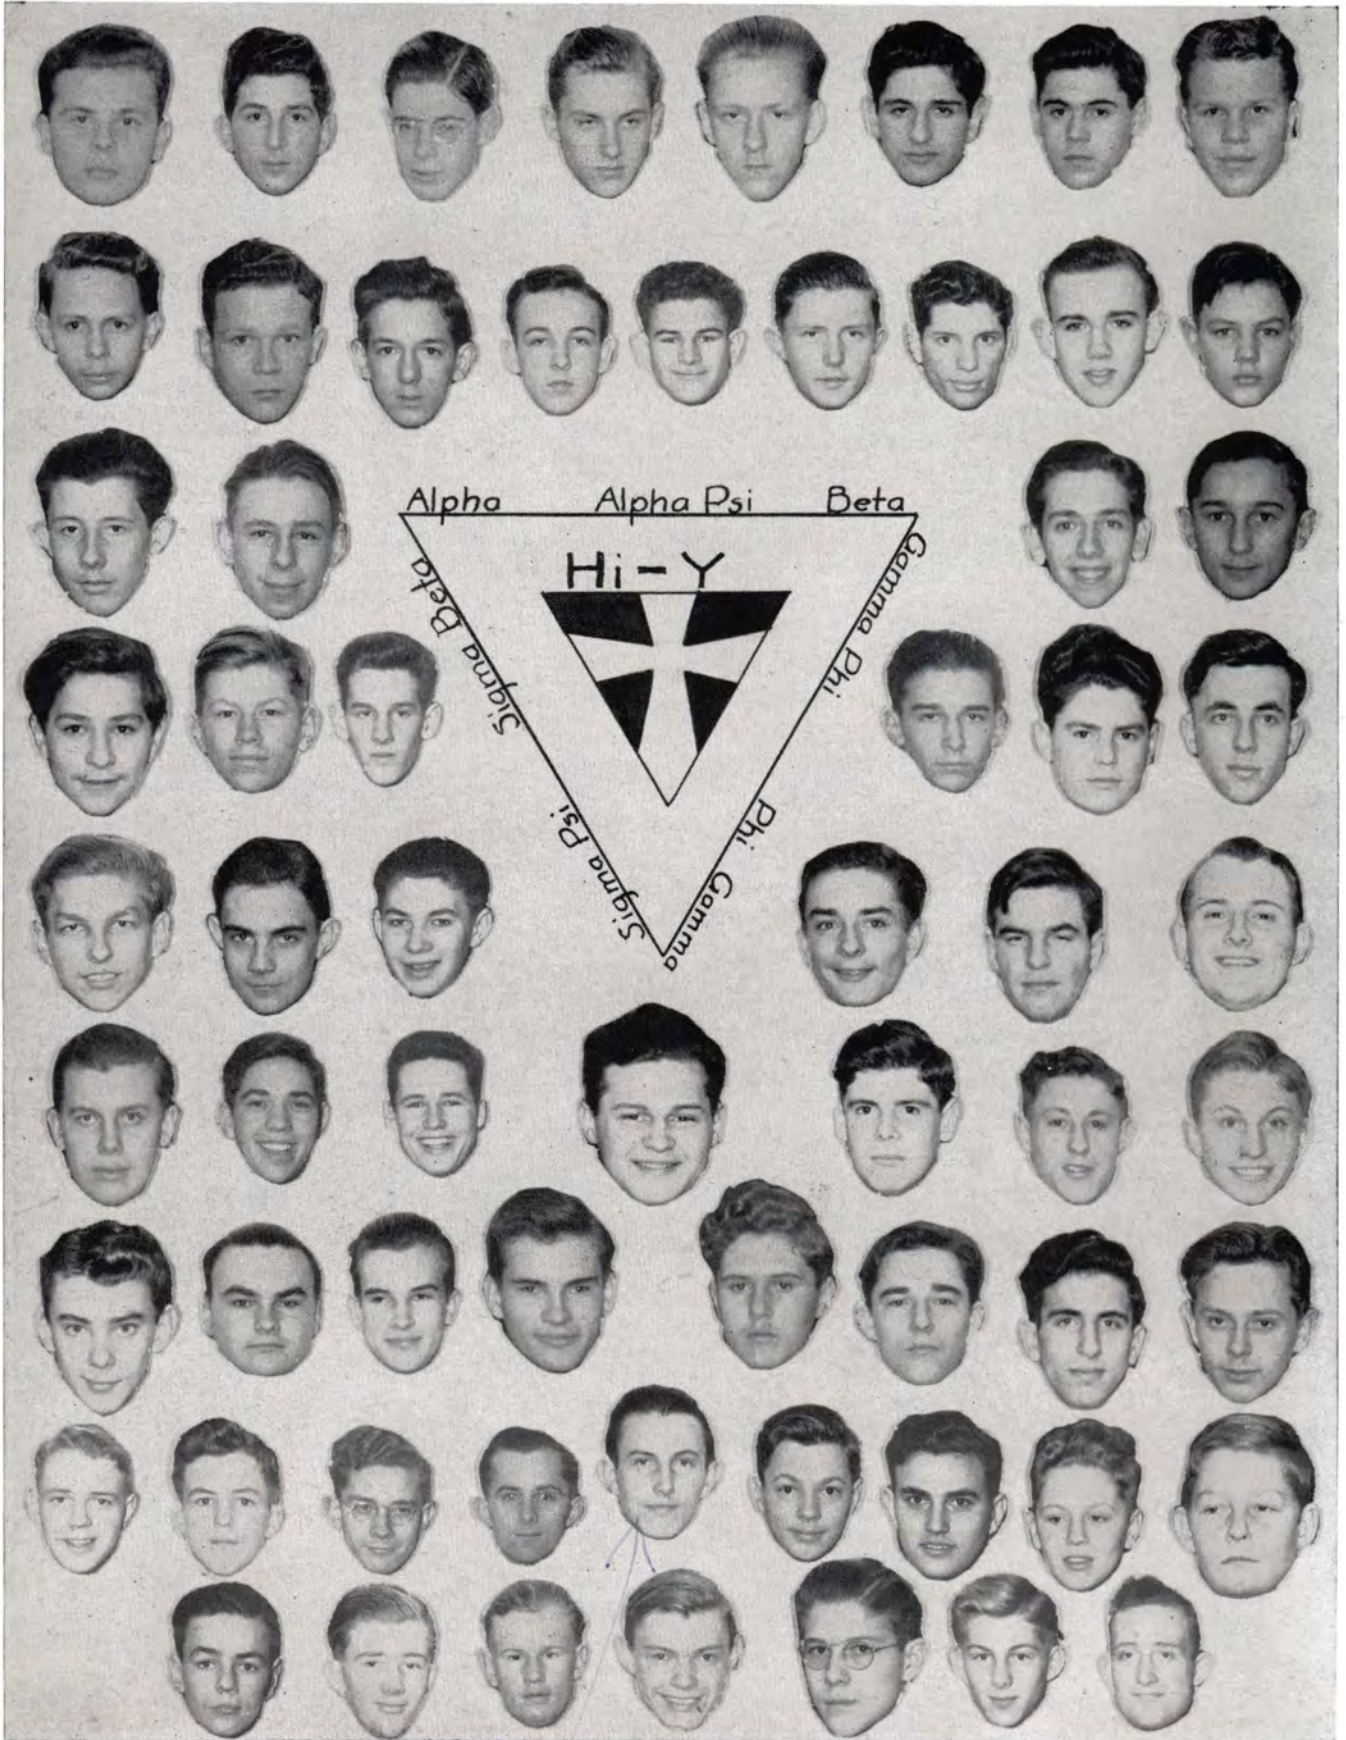

The Student Activities Committee supervises and promotes interest in clubs. Through their adviser, Miss Nellie Bitz, they set up the procedure for club elections during the first month of the school year, carry out a publicity program, and supervise club assignments. Throughout the year they endeavor to create and maintain interest in hobbies and after school activities, hoping that all students will find and enjoy suitable recreation.

Girls' Athletic Council

A personification of true democracy—this phrase describes the Girls' Athletic Council. Meeting with the instructors, discussing and settling student problems together, this group practices democracy.

The Council includes the leaders in gymnastic work during school hours who, dressed in white suits, lead classes whenever special leadership is required. After-school activities are also sponsored by the Girls' Athletic Council, including basketball, tennis, badminton, and baseball tournaments. The intramural splash party, for example, is a festive occasion and provides fun for everyone able to participate. At the close of each eventful year when tournaments, classes, and parties are things of the past, the main affair of the year is held—the impressive Girls' Athletic Banquet. Alumnae leaders, guests, and teachers are present at this function which makes a fitting climax to a busy season.

Shooting high, Marjorie!

Franklin is proud of its band. Marching with precision in snappy formations, resplendent in new red and white uniforms, the ninety-four piece band proves itself a source of credit to Franklin whenever it appears in public. The three hours a week devoted to rehearsal are spent in practicing intricate marching maneuvers and preparing for the annual spring music festival. The effort which Mr. Van Hoesen has put into his organization has been well rewarded, for this year Franklin has the largest and one of the best bands in the city.

Franklin Band

Few organizations render so much service to Franklin as does its orchestra. Constantly called upon to perform in public, this group cheerfully responds, eager to do its bit. It provides musical backgrounds for the senior play, Franklin Day, graduation, and weekly assemblies. Of inestimable aid is Mr. Karl Van Hoesen, who is directly responsible for making Franklin's orchestra one of the finest high school organizations in the country.

A Backward Look at Sports

"Industry need not wish"

Both colorful and important in the life of American high schools are the organizations which carry their colors into athletic contests. Franklin is no exception; our school points with pride to the teams which have represented it in past years and made its name feared and respected wherever local scholastic teams congregate.

Seldom, however, have athletic teams proved to be such a source of satisfaction as have the Quaker representatives of the season from Easter 1940 to Easter 1941. More than ever before have the athletes in red and white demonstrated what a combination of athletic skill, superior coaching, and good teamwork can accomplish. During the past year, no less than five teams—track, tennis, soccer, basketball, and horseshoes, have brought honor and fame to Franklin High by winning championships in their respective interscholastic leagues. Together with these, an undefeated reserve basketball team, a second place cross-country squad, and third place baseball and swimming outfits have combined to make the 1940-41 season a banner year in sports for our Alma Mater. More significant, however, than the numerous honors accumulated is the clean, sportsman-like play upheld by coaches and players alike in victory and defeat.

The athletic program in Franklin is not confined to training of varsity teams for interscholastic competition. On the contrary, our vast facilities afford each individual, regardless of his athletic ability, opportunity to indulge in his favorite seasonal recreation by means of the intramural program. During his two gymnasium periods per week, a student may be seen, in spring, playing baseball on one of the spacious diamonds, pitching horseshoes, playing tennis on one of the several courts, or racing over the quarter-mile cinder track. The fall program consists chiefly of soccer, football, and track, while in winter the large gymnasium offers ample space for several basketball games to be played at one time. The magnificent indoor swimming pool is open the year around.

For athletically inclined students, homeroom and intramural leagues have been organized for after-school competition. Such ventures have proved to be an effective training-ground for future varsity players. Girls, as well as boys, have found considerable pleasure in the formation of athletic organizations, and under the Girls' Athletic Council an increasing number of girls have begun to realize the value of sports participation. A great deal of time is spent on body-building exercises and special attention is given to those that are anxious to cure physical defects.

A vital factor in the success of Franklin's broad athletic program is the work of the instructors under the leadership of Carl Chamberlain. To them is due great credit for so efficiently carrying out Franklin High's well-known policy—"a sound mind in a sound body."

Soccer

Franklin's soccer champions furnish an illustration of the will and determination characteristic of all its athletic outfits. Far from discouraged after a poor start, the booters proceeded to set the league afire and emerge on top after a victory in a play-off game with Edison Tech. Coach John Kress's boys also showed excellent play in the sectionals, overwhelming the opposition in the first two contests, before losing out in the finals to Mt. Morris by one point.

The close of the first inter-scholastic football league schedule in thirty years found student followers unanimous in their acclaim of the return of this favorite sport. In Nick Zona's first year as mentor of the basketball team, Franklin won the city and sectional championships. After winning thirteen out of fifteen games during the regular season, the Quakers overwhelmed Perry and Dansville in sectional competitions. A hard-won victory over Canandaigua, champions of the Finger Lakes League, gave Franklin High the fourth sectional trophy of its eleven years' career.

Baseball

Franklin's baseball team wound up its season last spring in third place. This outfit, coached by Bob Torrens, was a pennant contender throughout the season, but lost a chance for first place laurels by dropping a thrilling contest to East High.

The rather informal picture at the top presents the veterans from last year's varsity teams at Washington and at Franklin. We regret that uniforms are not yet available. Doubtless the first team of 1941 will be drawn largely from this group.

This is the first annual to appear earlier than the close of the school year. We expect that in our next issue a new schedule will be in operation, presenting school life from Easter to Easter, and showing spring athletic teams as of the previous year.

Bases loaded . . . two out . . . here it comes!

Track

Charles Colburn's track team showed the way to the league last spring and captured the city title without a loss. The boys also distinguished themselves in the sectionals by winning several contests. Many of the stars of 1941 will doubtless be found in the informal group of last year's Franklin squad which appears above.

Cross Country

In spite of the loss of four out of five starting members, Coach Brooks Kiggins produced a cross-country team that ended the season close on the heels of four teams tied for first place. Two of the harriers went on to take first and second place in the sectional tournament.

Why the Biggest?

There are many reasons why more people pass through and shop in Sibley's daily than in any other Rochester store. Over a hundred departments full of the world's finest merchandise . . . a service bureau offering helps to hurried shoppers, from postal facilities to tourist services . . . escalators which whisk you from floor to floor in a few seconds . . . three dining centers . . . and we'll wager you could add a dozen more!
