1200 Get Dental Aid Weekly At Eastman Clinic in London

Some 1200 patients are taken care of each week at the Eastman Dental Clinic in London, five times the number handled during its early days.

That's the story brought back from London by Dr. Arthur J. May of the University of Rochester, who was abroad last summer.

Closely patterned after the Eastman Dental Dispensary in Rochester, the London institution was opened 18 years ago. Building and equipment were the gift of George Eastman. Similar philanthropies established clinics in Rome, Stockholm, Brussels and Paris.

"Our building was badly blitzed in the war—land mine—but now the necessary permits have gone through government bureaus to have it put aright again," Alan C. Deverell, director of the clinic, told Dr. May.

"All through the war and the bombing," he continued, "the clinic was closed only 24 hours, and then only because it was physically impossible to walk in the debris-choked corridors."

Much Work Done

On a tour of inspection, Dr. May noticed that the work of rebuilding has progressed far. The major rooms are in service and workmen are busily finishing the job.

"Care of the teeth of poor children, which Mr. Eastman asked for, will always be our main interest," Deverell said. "Increasing numbers come in for treatment, referred to us by the schools. There's always a long waiting list. They're all being taken care of, even though our staff is only half as large as before the war."

Dr. May watched mothers bringing in their boys and girls—willing and unwilling.

Aside from dental treatment for children — and some adults — the clinic spreads information on teeth hygiene and promotes scientific research in dentistry for the child. Since the end of the war, the clinic has been giving refresher courses to dentists leaving military service.

Intimately connected with the Royal Free Hospital and Medical School, the operating expenses of the clinic are met by the Ministry of Health and the British Post-Graduate Medical Foundation.

Postgraduate training for dentists especially interested in children is being put on a solid basis, Dr. May observed. Students come from the Continent and the British Dominions as well as from England itself. Eventually short refresher courses will be available for dentists from all countries.

Favors Fellowships

"There will always be a connection between our clinic and the Eastman Dental Dispensary in Rochester, which I visited this spring," Deverell said. "I am hopeful that some day a system of exchange fellowships with Rochester can be arranged."

Deverell also told Dr. May that he would like to see an annual meeting of the directors of the six Eastman Clinics.

"By pooling our experiences and our techniques, learning from one another," he pointed out, "we could carry on more effectively the spirit which Mr. Eastman intended these institutions should have."

New Kodak Cine Ektars First of Kind in Country

A complete line of Kodak Cine Ektar Lenses—the first series of professional-type high-aperture 16mm. camera lenses ever manufactured in the United States—is announced by the Company.

The new lenses incorporate the newest types of optical glass and the latest developments in lens design and manufacturing methods. The series has been planned with an eye to the highest quality, uniformity, utility, convenience and beauty of line. The lenses have been designed in geometrical progression, each focal length bearing a constant ratio to the next below it or above it in the series.

Although all of the lenses are fast—one opens to f/1.4, another to f/1.6—all of them, even at their widest apertures, meet extremely high standards of definition and edge-to-edge sharpness. They provide unmatched flatness of field.

Excellent Results

As a result of the unique optical qualities of Kodak rare-element glass which is used in their manufacture, these new lenses produce excellent results throughout all movie-making conditions. The series provides every lens needed for all movie-making situations.

Precision-built and inspected to tolerances approaching 1/10,000 of an inch, each lens is equipped with Kodak's comprehensive system of light control. All glass-air surfaces are Lumenized, lens rims and barrel corrugations are blackened, baffles are provided where needed, and the flanges holding the lens elements are beveled. The result is that lens flare is confined to a bare minimum.

The complete series includes 15mm. f/2.5, 25mm. f/1.9, 25mm. f/1.4, 40mm. f/1.6, 63mm. f/2.0, 102mm. f/2.7, and 152mm. f/4.0. These lenses will fit all recent Cine-Kodak 16mm. cameras with removable lenses, as well as most 16mm. cameras of other manufacture. Many 8mm. cameras will take four of the lenses—the 25mm. f/1.4, the 25mm. f/1.9, the 40mm. f/1.6, and the 63mm. f/2.0.

In most cases, lenses are fitted to cameras by means of adapters. No adapter is needed to fit any of these lenses to the Cine-Kodak Special II Camera.

Recordak Automatic Feeder Demonstrated in Pittsburgh

The result of 18 years of experimentation, an automatic feeding machine for Recordak Microfilm was demonstrated last week at the new offices of Recordak in Pittsburgh.

The machine, duplicating the motion of the human hand as it deals a deck of cards, is used to feed bank checks and office record forms into microfilm.

Recordak engineers worked for years seeking an automatic feeder for the Recordak machine, until one of them noticed how a human hand functions when it deals cards. He noted that while the thumb dealt off single cards, the fingers held back the balance of the deck.

Adopting the same principle, an upper feed roll pulls a single check or reference card into the micro-filming machine while two lower rollers, functioning as the fingers, hold back the rest of the stack. By this means, only one document is fed at a time for photographing.

The Recordak Automatic Feeder has a micrometer adjustment which allows only one document to pass through at one time. If two documents start through, the machine stops automatically, thus preventing loss of images. Yet, the micrometer adjustment is so designed that wrinkled documents and prominently embossed letterheads will pass through the machine without stopping it.

Utilizing automatic feeders, an operator may keep more than one machine busy simply by keeping the feeders filled with checks. The feeders are especially adaptable in large metropolitan banks where some 500,000 checks are handled daily. The new machines will make it possible to clear every transit item the same day.

Ideas Parley Set Monday

Representatives of Kodak will exchange ideas with members of some 700 industries at the convention of the National Association of Suggestion Systems Nov. 8 and 9. Theme of the sessions in the Drake Hotel in Chicago will be "Suggestions, a Tool for Human Relations."

Attending the convention from Kodak will be: Camera Works, James Noble, general superintendent of manufacturing; Fred Darling, superintendent of assembly manufacturing; William Zimmer, supervisor of suggestions, and James McVittie, assistant supervisor of the Suggestion Dept.; Navy Ordnance Division, Carl Lamb, suggestion representative; Kodak Office, Harry Irwin, Suggestion Committee secretary, and Janice Hanley, member of the KO

Packets of Dektol Assist Amateurs

Aid for the advanced amateur who processes a limited number of enlargements or contact prints at irregular intervals is provided in the new packet of Kodak Dektol Developer.

This developer is being furnished in handy heat-sealed aluminum foil wrappers containing enough chemicals to mix 16 ounces of working solution. Approximately thirty 5x7 prints or equivalent may be developed with the chemicals provided.

This furnishes sufficient capacity for an evening of print making by the average camera fan and cuts to a minimum the amount of developer that may have to be discarded as a result of developer exhaustion.

The chemicals are furnished in two separate envelopes plainly marked "A" and "B." When the contents of these envelopes are mixed according to directions, the resulting solution is ready for use.

Three Kodak Dektol Developer units are furnished in each carton selling for 35 cents.

Foremen's Club Bills 2 Headliners, Brilliant Pianist, Foe of Tricksters

Music will vie with legerdemain to furnish the entertainment for members of the Kodak Park Foremen's Club at their meeting Tuesday evening, Nov. 9, in the new gym. Demonstrating the same skill with which he enlightened thousands of G.I.'s during World War II will be John Scarne, world-famous card magician. He will expose many of the favorite methods employed by dice experts and cardsharps to mulct unwitting victims of their funds.

Warned G.I.'s

Scarne's relentless campaign against dishonest gambling has attracted nationwide attention and he has given talks before police officials in many cities. Recognized as an artistic manipulator of cards, he is expected to dig deep into his bag of tricks to keep his KP audience second-guessing.

One of America's most famous piano recording artists, Jan August, accompanied by an instrumental group, will offer a program of favorites, including classical, popular and boogie-woogie, in his own inimitable style.

Plays for Millions

The brilliant keyboard stylist comes here from the Raleigh Room in New York City and has been heard on his own radio program via a national hookup. August has been in movies, and personal appearances have taken him to theaters and night clubs all over the country. "Misirlou," his piano theme, is familiar to thousands of listeners and ranks among the top sellers in the platter field.

Dinner in the cafeteria will launch the proceedings at 5 p.m. with news and sports broadcasts slated during the dining period. The entertainment program starts promptly at 6:45.

Music and Magic — That will be the combination of entertainment served up to members of the Foremen's Club at the Nov. 9 session. Jan August, left, will offer some of his piano favorites and John Scarne will expose dice, card manipulations.

Presentation of Cuban Flag Honors Photographic Dealer

When Morris Awerbuch was presented with an official Cuban flag in commemoration of his arrival in Havana 25 years ago this October, it brought back memories. Today, he is known as Kodak Cubana, Ltd.'s most active professional and amateur dealer, with three modern stores located in downtown Havana.

What many do not know, though, is that he was Kodak Cubana's first employee, and the recent presentation of the flag was made to him by Kodak Cubana's manager, Ivo Moneda.

It was in 1923 that Awerbuch left his home in Russia to seek fame and fortune in the U.S., but he came up against immigration quota restrictions. Nearest place to the States it was possible to go was Cuba, and he landed in Havana harbor on Oct. 4.

Despite the fact that he was a professional photographer, interested particularly in chemistry, he found it hard going in the post World War I recession. Moneda, then a free-lance salesman of photo goods, told him that Kodak Export Dept.'s first chief, D. E. Delgado, and the late Paul Favour, who headed KO's Service Dept., were in the city making preliminary plans for setting up a 16mm. processing plant.

Favored Candidate

Following an interview with Favour, Awerbuch learned that the latter put an "x" after his name as the most likely candidate, even though he answered "I have had no experience" to the question, "What do you know about Cine Film?"

His entry into Kodak Cubana, Ltd., in November 1926, followed a second interview with Harris Tuttle, KO Sales Service, when the latter arrived to set up the equipment and train the personnel.

Thus, Awerbuch became Kodak's first employee in Cuba, a fact of which he is most proud.

New Types Listed In Kodapak Sheet

A new Extruded Kodapak Sheet and several new types of laminated Kodapak I Sheet, clear, have been announced by the Company.

The new Extruded Kodapak Sheet will be offered in a limited variety of gauges and in such standard colors as clear, white, ivory, red and blue. Production of this new sheet is proceeding principally in 15, 20 and 25 thousandths gauges at present.

The new Kodapak I Sheet, clear, announced by Kodak, is a laminated sheet which will be available in gauges ranging from 30 to 60 thousandths.

Left is Armin Baltzer, KO Export Dept., who was in Havana on the first stop of another of his 'round-Latin-America trips.

Chief to Chief — KP Fire Chief Bill Olin, left, explains some of the features of the Park Fire Dept.'s truck to Henrik W. Schmidt, center, deputy chief of the Fire Brigade in Copenhagen, Denmark. Schmidt, making his first visit to the United States, is touring the country to observe fire protection methods in various cities. A. L. Cobb, right, KP director of safety, acted as the Dane's host during his local stop and inspection of Kodak units.

You Can Make Good Scenic Shots If You Center Interest in Chosen Spots

SCENIC pictures are favorite snapshot fare for all of us—but what makes a good landscape photo good? There can be many answers, but a few of the more obvious reasons for rejecting a scenic photo are these:

1. The picture is poorly exposed, or camera movement or some other technical fault has spoiled it.
2. The picture taker has tried to take in "everything" and consequently has no major center of interest or appeal in the snapshot.
3. Composition is poor; the masses and lines divide the picture area too evenly and thus give an unpleasing effect.

It's not hard to make good scenic snapshots which have a great deal of charm and appeal, however, if you just follow a few simple rules. These can be remembered easily and will help you definitely to improve the technical quality of your work.

The first rule is: Concentrate on a section of the landscape; don't try to take in everything. This, as our illustration today proves, is a wise plan because it centers all attention on one attractive portion of the whole scene. The eye doesn't have to wander here and there to take in the subject and understand what it was that the photographer was trying to show.

Next, build your picture around a "center of interest" such as the two figures in our illustration today. That center of interest, incidentally, should not be located precisely in the middle of the picture. The center of interest should be "off center" just a trifle to give the most pleasing effect. Everything else in the composition should be arranged so that it leads the eye to the center of interest.

Finally, look for masses and lines which will lead the eye into your snapshot. Curved lines like those of the road in our illustration are more pleasing to the eye than straight lines—but anything is better than no "lead in" lines.

By watching those points, and making certain that you're exposing and handling the camera properly, you should have little trouble with scenic snapshots.

$10,707 Paid to Suggesters in 10th Period, Additional Amounts Reach $6965 at KP

Payment of $6965 in additional awards to KP suggesters spotlighted the 10th period. Augmented by $3742.50 in original awards for suggestions, the total was $10,707.50.

Of 388 reviewed by the Suggestion Committee, 379 were adopted, none of the individual awards exceeding $100.

Almost half of the amount granted as additional awards went to Elizabeth Freeh, a member of the Roll Film Dept., and Gerald Bentley of the Paper Mill, both of whom had previously posted original $2000 winnings. Bentley received $1500 and Elizabeth Freeh $1000 to supplement their total (See KODAKERY, Oct. 28).

Among those who realized checks for $100 in initial adoption of their ideas were Frank McCone, Machine Shop; Howard Glasser, Roll Coating, and Marjorie Vars, Roll Film. McCone recommended a slight modification to one of the parts of a film perforating machine.

One of the pieces of equipment used to feed raw materials to some of the film casting machines in the Roll Coating Dept. was the subject of Glasser's suggestions.

Also affecting the same equipment was a suggestion submitted by Kenneth Barringer and John Mitchell, both of Roll Coating, whose idea simplified installation of this fixture.

Marjorie's idea proposed a slight change to the adhesive plaster used in the manufacture of certain types of roll film.

Nine suggesters were recipients of $50 awards. They are Robert Pavlock, F.D. 7; J. D. Reed, Cine-Kodak Processing; Frederick Melvin, Roll Coating; Carmine Taccone, E&M Stores; Phillip B. Tierney, Purchasing; Robert H. Shaw, X-ray Screen; Clarke Austin, Paper Sensitizing; Jacob Christensen, Roll Coating, and A. Truesdale, also of Roll Coating.

Pavlock's suggestion pertains to the paper coating machine in the Roll Film Dept., the use of his idea making it unnecessary to rewind some of the material coated.

Reed's Idea

A device for simplifying an overhead cleaning and maintenance job is being used at the suggestion of Reed. The method of lubricating one of the parts of certain types of film coating machines has been improved by the adoption of Melvin's suggestion. Taccone recommended a different method of loading and unloading box parts by employing a power fork lift truck.

Tierney set up a system for identifying various molds and dies used in the manufacture of rubber parts, thereby minimizing the possibility of incurring material loss. Shaw's suggestion concerns an improved method of inspecting materials used in X-ray screens.

Austin presented an idea by means of which it is possible to locate raw stock which is scheduled to be coated, and Christensen evolved a method of operation in the coating of film which reduces the incidence of waste. The distribution of air in one of the sections of a film coating machine was the subject of Truesdale's idea.

Among those who received substantial additional awards were the following: Robert G. Mallory, Paper Service, $200; Arlene D. Hammond, Roll Film, $200; Fred Alexander, Cine Processing, $200; George J. Erath, Film Emulsion, $200; Herbert Merkel and Arthur Preiss, F.D. 7, $150; Elmer Kirchgessner, F.D. 5, $135; Alphonse Boucquaert, Reel Mfg., $130, and Arthur Maupin, Cine Proc., $125.

Awards of $100 went to James L. Powers, Emulsion Coating; Carl Walsh, Electric Shop; Harry Yost, Paper Mill; F. C. Francis, Kodacolor Film Processing; James J. Collins, Kodapak, and George M. Carnes, Metal Shop.

Blood Gifts Benefit Many

What's a pint of human blood really worth?

At least two KP men can readily vouch for the valuable service being rendered the community by the Rochester Regional Blood Program under the aegis of the American Red Cross. They are Jacob Martin, Testing, and Herbert Miller, Roll Coating.

Martin had occasion to receive seven pints during a six-month period of serious illness several years ago. More recently his wife was given a transfusion to promote more rapid recovery after a surgical operation.

Urges Donations

"Everyone physically capable should periodically make a donation to the blood bank. It reflects faith in his fellow man, hope for the future of his family and friends, and a wholesome charity in his own heart," says Martin.

Miller has to date received eight pints in transfusion, all in connection with three operations which he has undergone since last December. He too is high in his praise of the National Blood Program, of which the local chapter is an integral part.

It was pointed out by Anne Miner, secretary of the Red Cross Recruitment Division, that the 15,413 units used by hospitals this year represent a community saving of nearly $385,325 in terms of the former cost of $25 per unit.

The Mobile Blood Collecting Unit is slated to visit the Park for eight days, Nov. 29 through Dec. 8, setting up its facilities on the third floor of Bldg. 28 adjacent to the gymnasium. Those desiring to make contributions may obtain registration blanks in their departments at Kodak Park.

Navy Veteran Keeps Faith

He's 62, a veteran of two wars, and still brimming with excitement about the sea.

Retired from the U.S. Navy in 1946 after completing 33 years of service, diminutive Daniel Altre, KP Cafeteria, celebrated Navy Day Oct. 27 by donning his uniform with all its decorations.

There are few countries that the dapper Filipino, a one-time chief steward, has not visited in the line of duty. Born in Lingayen Gulf, he studied Spanish and English and was appointed a member of the Philippine Constabulary in 1909. After serving four years, he took an examination for the post of chief of police, passed, but turned down the job in lieu of the Navy which he joined in 1913.

During World War I, in which he served aboard both transport and cargo vessels, Altre crossed the Atlantic at least once every month until the Armistice. He was aboard the U.S.S. America, carrying 12,000 soldiers overseas, when it was rammed off Brest in 1918.

In World War II his ship was bombed by Jap planes while en route to New Zealand. On both occasions Altre escaped without injury. At one time he was stationed aboard the aircraft carrier Langley which later went down in the South Pacific fighting. His travels have twice taken him across the equator.

ANSWER

This is a Kodak Blotter Roll which provides an efficient means of drying semi-matte or matte-surfaced prints. It consists of a fine white blotter, a linen-lined blotter and a backing of corrugated board. The roll counteracts the tendency of prints to curl and the corrugated backing allows for free circulation of air for rapid drying.

Suggestion Men To Attend Meet In Chicago Nov. 8

Suggestion Office staff; Kodak Park, John Bushfield, secretary of the Suggestion Committee, and Hawk-Eye, Herb Knop, Suggestion Dept. head.

At the Monday morning meeting McVittie will present a treatise on suggestions which was developed through group discussions of 35 companies represented in the Industrial Management Council in Rochester. Twenty-five Kodachrome slides will be used in presenting the subject.

Presentation of a copy of the treatise with copies of the slides will be made by Kodak to the president of the association at a luncheon.

series was designed with a common ratio of 1.6 between focal lengths. This will enable the 16mm. movie maker to operate with far greater precision in increasing or decreasing the scale of his picture during filming operations.

A new type of iris diaphragm, representing a considerable improvement over the iris diaphragm used on lenses in the past, has been incorporated in these new lenses. The new diaphragm employs special L-shaped leaves designed to give a uniformly spaced scale. Thus equal rotations of the diaphragm ring will alter the image brightness by the same proportion in all parts of the scale.

Better Focusing Scales

The focusing scales on the new lenses are more completely graduated than on any previous lenses. These scales are marked directly in inches for focusing at short distances, and below 2 feet the scales are in red to act as a warning of the need for accurate focus.

Most of the new Kodak Cine Ektar Lenses focus way down for magnified closeups of tiny subjects. With the f/1.4 the movie maker can focus as close as 12 inches and fill the whole screen with some small object, such as a flower, without the use of a closeup attachment.

Kodak Cine Ektar Lenses will be available through all Kodak dealers.

'Pop' Concert Bills Mannes

Leopold Mannes, co-inventor of Kodachrome, will come to Rochester to star in music this weekend.

The noted pianist and director of the David Mannes School of Music, New York City, will be the guest performer at the Eastman Theater's "Pop" Concert Sunday evening. As his major work he will play Rachmaninoff's "Paganini Fantasy."

Mannes was in frequent demand for concert and radio appearances here during the time he and Leo Godowsky, noted violinist, were perfecting Kodachrome at KP. The two met and became interested in color photography while in school.

EK Holston Club to Install New Officers at Nov. 10 Meet

Members of the Holston Kodak Club are looking forward to their annual fall dinner dance Nov. 10 at Ridgmont Country Club. At this meeting 1949 officers will be installed.

During the past year the club expanded to take in an affiliated group in Kingsport which is formally known as the "Upper East Tennessee Branch of the Holston Kodak Club of Rochester." Representatives have been invited.

High spot of the evening will be the entertainment program which will feature talent "direct from New York," according to Fred H. Sill, retiring president.

when they visited the Convalescent Hospital for Children and the Jewish Home for the Aged.

In the party were Gilbert Gordon, Philip Jewsbury, Darrow Potts, George Rich, Walter Seeley and Roy Zink, all of whom warmly seconded Rich's praise of the home-like atmosphere to be found at both institutions.

Superintendent Hannah L. Harle, R.N., was their guide at the Convalescent Hospital in Charlotte, which this year has a Chest appropriation of $25,324.99 to carry on its good work.

Most of the children admitted are either recovering from polio or are victims of rheumatic fever. The Kodakers were shown how physical therapy, including the use of a big Hubbard tank in which circulating warm water helps to soothe and relax injured muscles, hastens the recovery of the young crippled victims.

Eli Rudin, executive director, was their host at the Jewish Home. Here they learned that the average age of the 85 residents is 80 years, and that many are bedridden and require infirmity care at all times.

Like other homes of its kind in the city, this agency has a long waiting list, Rudin said. Some residents, he added, receive old-age allotments, while all or part of the cost of caring for others is paid by relatives. A Chest appropriation of $15,667 represents approximately one-sixth of the annual total cost of operating the home.

The efficiency of the St. Paul Street institution elicited favorable comments from several members of the touring group.

"The new modern addition planned for the Home should go a long way in providing accommodations for other deserving guests," Potts opined. Gordon was impressed by the results accomplished on such a small budget, and paid tribute to the staff in charge. Seeley was even more emphatic.

Two residents of the Jewish Home (seated) show Roy Zink and Phil Jewsbury, l. to r., standing, architect's conception of the new modern addition planned for the St. Paul Street home.

Georgie Gremlin 'Goes to Work'

Runaway Chair—Georgie is taking no chances! Just in case Jane Zanni, H-E Dept. 35, should hit the chair when she goes to sit down, he has it fixed so she'll surely get the point.

Meet George Gremlin, the bane of an office worker's existence. A mischievous character, he derives fiendish glee from a top-heavy file case, a chair removed, and other potential, and real, accidents which occur in the office.

In reality, a gremlin does not exist. Even Webster's dictionary fails to recognize the little demon. But to put across a point, KODAKERY bares his nature in these pictures.

Of course, accidents and resulting injuries received in the course of everyday work are primarily the fault of ourselves. We'd like to blame George, but he's only a figment of the imagination.

Going, Going, — — Pretty Peg Frank, KO Manuals, has found that opening more than one file drawer isn't the thing to do. Georgie is "helping."

Double Trouble—Georgie is on the job as Art Daily and Betty Smith, both of CW Dept. 78, unwittingly hold a confab in front of a closed door. Art is struck by Don Haelele, also Dept. 78, who enters windowless door without knocking.

The Vicious Envelope—The edge of an envelope can be sharp as a knife. George chuckles, but advises those who want to seal an envelope the safe way to use a sponge or facsimile. Vida Ingerick, KP Suggestion Office, models for this picture.

What's A-Head for Ted?—Ted Pogoda, H-E Dept. 31, is going to "use his head" on the open file drawer. George will add the finishing "touch" with a mallet.

Between and Between—Jane Kolb, KP Cafeteria, regrets that step she has taken, thinks maybe a gremlin opened the desk drawer. Her bruising experience is conveyed effectively.

Insult to Injury—To make matters worse, Georgie helps scatter the file cards after Ruth Cooman, CW Dept. 99, drops the case, which injures her leg and causes a stocking fatality. Oh, George, what next?

S-t-r-e-t-c-h—When the fall comes, Jane Hetzler, KO Sales Service, may have a flitting thought that someone, perhaps George, sawed off one of the chair legs. A chair, especially with casters, is a poor excuse for a ladder.

3rd Gun Club Turkey Shoot Set

Nimrods Eye Turkeys — This KPAA Gun Club trio anxiously awaits the club's third annual turkey shoot Nov. 14 at the Beatty Road range. From left, above: Adam Brodman, Bill Holland and Clarence Auten. All prizes, including turkeys and chickens, will be awarded on blind drawings of target hits.

Nimrods Compete In Blind Draw Nov. 14

"Turkeys unlimited" will be the password at the Beatty Road range of the KPAA Gun Club on Sunday, Nov. 14, when members, friends and guests participate in the club's annual turkey shoot. Both skeet and trap events are listed, beginning at 9 a.m. and continuing throughout the day. As in former years, expert marksmanship will have no bearing on the outcome, all of the winners to be determined by a drawing of specified numbers which must correspond with hits made in the all-day shooting. Hits only will be tallied and the beginner will be shooting on a par with the expert.

Guns Available

A supply of chickens also will be offered as prizes, and lucky contestants may easily go home with two or more birds for the family table. Guns will be available at the range for the use of those who come unarmed, it was announced. Coffee and hot meals will be served to keep appetites in check.

The executive committee of the club has completed details for the affair and expects a heavy turnout of turkey-conscious nimrods from early morning until late afternoon.

22 Hoopsters Greet Coach

A squad of 22 cagers, including seven holdovers from last season, answered coach Jack Brightman's initial call for practice at KP.

Brightman hopes to build his squad around a crew of experienced veterans made up of Harry Horn, Jack Ellison, Al McEntee, Ralph Taccone, Stan Lojek, Pete Masley and Jack Solan.

The Kodak Interplant League champions plan to enter the fast Champion Industrial League this season.

Early Entrant — Leo O'Halloran, who won the first annual Kodak Singles Handicap last year, signs up for the second tourney slated for Dec. 4-5. Bunny Ellsworth of the KPAA Office supplied the entry card, and Harold Jorolemon, secretary of the KPAA Monday B-8 League of which Leo is a member, watched the proceedings. Men will again bowl for $100 first prize and other cash awards. There is a women's division this season, and on Dec. 12 feminine pin toppers will shoot for $50 top award and other prizes. There will be first-place trophies in both men's and women's divisions.

Kegler Kinzel Gets Hot... Cage Bill Ducats Go on Sale

THIS AND THAT—The red hot Ekstras stretched their skein to 13 straight wins last week in the H-E Webber Bowling League, taking three from the Bolos. . . . The accompanying photograph of Fred Fogarty, Andy Andrews, Tony Adams, Bill Sweeney and Mike Sheehan might have been taken at most any stadium or ball park in the country. These tourists take in every top-notch sports clambake that is cooked up, and some of the lesser ones. This particular photo shows the KO basketball brain trust and their advisers—Sweeney and Sheehan—at Schoellkopf Crescent during the Army-Cornell classic. . . . Jimmy Johnston, Kodak Park's perennial of the links, became the first golfer to best 70 on Genesee's old course this season by firing a one-under-par 69. Jim put together rounds of 36-33 over the par 36-34 layout. Jimmy's brothers, Alex, Jack and Lindsay, are also well known for their golfing exploits on local courses. . . . Bob Kinzel personally led his Finishing Dept. keggers out of the woods last Wednesday night when he tossed a 213 game. It not only helped the KO quint end a prolonged losing streak, but fattened Bob's average some 13 pins.

Doris Redder, a member of the Cashiers' quint in the KPAA Girls' 6-Team League, sparked actively in that circuit last week by mowing down the pins for a 173 count. . . . Another sparkling performance was turned in by Winnie Spencer of the Print Inspection outfit who leveled the wood for a 200 score.

Edward Kintz, Kodak Park kegger, is listed among the winners this week in the Old Topper Bowling Contest.

Tickets for the Dec. 3 basketball doubleheader featuring the Syracuse Nats and the Waterloo, Iowa, Hawks may be obtained from department ticket chairmen or the KPAA Office in Bldg. 28 at KP beginning Nov. 15. The bargain bill, slated for the KP gym Dec. 3, will also see the Kodak Park Major Dusties play the RG&E quint. All sections of the gym's seating area will be reserved and tickets are priced at $1.50 and $1.90 each, tax included.

Plans are under way for the organization of a KPAA Girls' Departmental Basketball League this winter. The circuit will be made up of at least four teams and girls interested in taking part are requested to call the KPAA Office, Ext. 2193.

Joe Donzella, substituting on the Wood Shop quint, sparked the H-E Ridge League club to two wins over the Oilers with a 602 three-ple total. Joe put together games of 224-213-165. . . . The Bulldozers and Alley Sallies are deadlocked for first place in the H-E Girls' Ridge League with a record of 16 wins and 5 losses. Both clubs won two games last week. . . . Frank Weber paced the H-E Webber League keggers last week with a 609 series on games of 191-223-195. . . . The Bench Warmers and Tool Room clubs are neck and neck for first place in the H-E Saturday Shift League with 12 wins and six losses.

KP Dribblers Await Whistle

A record field of 20 quints, pared down to full strength for a campaign that will carry them into next April, is poised for the start of activity in the KPAA Departmental Basketball League Monday evening, Nov. 8.

Opening games on the schedule pit Roll Coating against Testing, Bldg. 23 opposite Bldg. 12, Industrial Engineering against Emulsion Coating, and Power with Cafeteria.

Bldg. 30-West and Engineering copped pennants in their respective divisions last year, with George Francis' Bldg. 30 five going on to win the playoff. Wilson Pask will manage the defending champs.

Making up the American division are teams representing Roll Coating, Cafeteria, Emulsion Coating, F.D. 5, Color Control, Bldg. 65, Wood Cellulose, Bldg. 36, Bldg. 58 and Bldg. 14. In the National wheel are Testing, Power, Bldg. 23, Bldg. 12, Industrial Engineering, Emulsion Research, Emulsion Making, Film Emulsion, Synthetic Chemistry and Engineering.

Among the whistle-tooters who will officiate loop battles are Al Tinsmon, Harry Horn, Gordon Steinfeldt, Hank Brauner, Harry Trezise, Art White and Jake Riley.
