Ultr sensitive Emulsion Snaps Atomic Particles

A new photographic emulsion for tracking down atomic particles has been developed at Kodak Research Laboratories. It is so sensitive that it poses the problem of how to prevent its premature exposure by cosmic rays during shipment to researchers.

This new emulsion is approximately four times as "fast" as the Company's existing nuclear track plates. It has successfully recorded electron tracks which are 10 times longer than those previously captured photographically.

Protection of the new material presents the big problem for Kodak scientists. It was pointed out that no sooner is the new emulsion made than it begins to record the bombardment of cosmic rays which strike all about us constantly from outer space.

Here is the electron track the length of which indicates the high sensitivity of the new emulsion developed by Kodak.

Dr. Cyril J. Staud, director of the laboratories, said that "about six electrons from cosmic rays strike each square centimeter of the emulsion every minute."

This intense barrage, he said, peppers the emulsion so much in three days' time that, unless adequately protected, it is clouded with streaks upon development.

Packing the emulsion in dry ice for shipment may protect it, Dr. Staud indicated, because the emulsion's sensitivity is reduced at low temperatures. On arrival, it could be refrigerated and later permitted to warm up just before exposure.

Dr. John Spence, in charge of research on the emulsion, said that it "comes very close to complete recording of any nuclear particle."

He said that the emulsion is characterized by a uniform sensitivity of all its tightly-packed grains and a high concentration of silver halides.

Like 'Skipping Stone'

Commenting on its importance as a photographic tool in nuclear research, Dr. Spence explained that an atomic particle in the emulsion acts like a "skipping stone" on the surface of a pond.

"Assuming one has a good, round, disc-like stone and throws with precision," he said, "the frequency of the skips increases toward the end of its path. . . . The faster the stone is traveling, the less the frequency of the skips in the water. This is paralleled by the passage of a high energy particle through a nuclear emulsion. As with the skipping stone, the rate of energy loss is reflected in the number of grains along the track. . . ."

From the length and curvature of the track and the grain-spacing along it, he said, information is obtained of the particle's speed, energy, and other characteristics.

The emulsion also can bring new precision to autoradiography in medical research, Dr. Spence said.

In autoradiography, sections of tissue containing radioactive isotopes are placed in contact with the emulsion. The specimen takes its own picture when radiation from its tissue exposes the emulsion. Examination of the developed plate enables scientists to identify location and amount of radioactive penetration in tissue.

Dr. Staud said that the new material, development of which was carried out by Dr. Spence and Gordon Shayler of the laboratories, has been made so far only on an experimental basis and is not yet generally available.

Tracking Electrons—Dr. John Spence of the Kodak Research Laboratories uses his microscope to inspect a plate coated with the new supersensitive emulsion and checks it with a photograph of the electron track. Dr. Spence is in charge of research on the new emulsion in the Research Lab.

Kodak Plan Observes 20th Anniversary Dec. 20

This month marks the 20th anniversary of an important part of Kodak's program for protection of its men and women.

The signing of the contract with Metropolitan Life Insurance Company culminated a long study by the Company into possible ways for assisting Kodak people and their families to gain greater security against old age, disability and death.

On Dec. 20, 1928, when the plan was formally announced, Mr. Eastman declared:

"It is with a great deal of satisfaction to me and to the management that we announce a Retirement Annuity Plan, together with a Life Insurance and Disability Benefit Plan for Kodak employees."

The program, Mr. Eastman pointed out, was aimed to help provide Kodak people with an annuity for old age to supplement their own individual savings program. Since the inauguration of the Plan, the Government's Social Security Program has been enacted, to which the Company contributes along with Kodak people to provide additional income after they have reached retirement age.

Kodak's plan is a threefold proposition, providing as it does for Retirement Annuities, Life Insurance, and payments in case of total and permanent disability.

In the intervening years, Kodak people and their families have received $14,000,000 under the three-way program.

As Kodak has grown, so has the scope of the Company's Insurance Program, until today more than 32,000 men and women are covered for $200,200,000 of Life Insurance, more than 2000 people have retired and some 850 have come under the disability phase of the plan.

Lauding Letter—Marion B. Folsom, Company treasurer, seated, and Carl Stevenson of Employee Benefits, look over the letter received from the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company congratulating Kodak on the 20th anniversary of its program. The Company signed its contract with the Metropolitan Dec. 20, 1928.

7 Kodakers Get Certificates For Contributions to Victory

Seven Kodak men were among the group of local scientists and engineers who received certificates of appreciation from the Army and Navy yesterday. The certificates were in recognition of service with the Office of Scientific Research and Development during World War II.

The Kodak men honored were Alfred Bagg, David MacAdam and Franz Urbach, Kodak Park; Joseph Boon, Camera Works; Robert Ferry and William Forman, NOD, and Russell O'Neal, Hawk-Eye.

Lt. Col. Henry I. Kiel, head of the local Organized Reserve Corps offices, made the presentation address and Capt. Alf Bergesen, head of the Navy Reserve unit at the University of Rochester, presented the certificates at the C. of C.

EK Verifies Date of Film

Kodak was called upon recently to help establish authenticity of the microfilm of secret State Department papers unearthed on the farm of Whittaker Chambers.

Members of the House Un-American Activities Committee were checking on the claim of Chambers that the films were in his possession for 10 years. So they called in Keith Lewis, head of the Washington Office of Kodak's Government Sales Division.

Lewis copied the Kodak code numbers appearing on the film and telephoned Rochester. Because the EK code system had been changed about eight years ago the set of numbers at first was misinterpreted and it was thought the film had been manufactured in 1947. A second check, however, revealed that the correct date of manufacture was 1937—thus establishing that the film could have been used 10 years ago.

4 Hold Top Marks In Safety Contest

Four Kodak units maintained their 100 per cent standings as they entered the final two weeks of the 13-week Accident Prevention Campaign sponsored by the Associated Industries of New York State.

Others of the 18 Kodak entries in the competition also were high on the list with all of them over 90 per cent thus far. Those with 100 per cent are Roll Coating, Finished Film & Sundries and Cine Processing of Kodak Park and the Navy Ordnance Division.

Kodakery Adopts Holiday Schedule

Heavy mailing encountered around Christmas and the resulting distribution problems again will cause omission of two issues of KODAKERY which would fall at the peak of the holiday rush. Consequently this issue is the last until Jan. 6. The same program has been followed in other years.

The KODAKERY staff will be on the job, meanwhile, and Kodak folks are urged to continue to turn in news items to their correspondents for use in the next edition.

115 Technical Men Come to Kodak For Conferences

One hundred and fifteen EK technical representatives in the Sensitized Goods Sales Div. are participating in conferences in Rochester this week. They are here to brush up on photographic techniques and participate in a number of group discussions on Company products.

Coming from many parts of the country, they represent the technical service division with the exception of the Medical Div. Four groups of technical representatives in the Medical Div. were here earlier for similar sessions.

Convening now are Commercial, Photofinishing, Paper, Film Representatives, Combination Representatives, Graphic Arts and Industrial divisions. Each will have its own set of meetings and take part also in general conferences.

Meetings are being held in the Professional Studio, the Graphic Arts Studio, the Industrial Photo Lab, the Color Product Studio, the Sales Training Center, KO auditorium and the Powers Hotel.

Camera Store Has His Yule Wish If Photofan's on Your Shopping List

Still worrying about Christmas gifts for members of the family or for friends? Well, if he or she is a camera fan, your troubles will be solved quickly by visiting a camera shop.

A survey of the shops shows that cameras, movie projectors, darkroom equipment and accessories are in rather good supply.

Cameras are more plentiful than a year ago although one may have difficulty in finding a particular model. However, there's no lack of possible gifts for those who already own cameras.

Perhaps you'd like a few suggestions. If your camera fan is a box-camera owner, then he'd welcome a simple, hand-held flash unit, complete with flash bulbs, to permit use of his camera indoors or at night. A book on picture taking would delight most any camera user. The occasional picture-taker would welcome a range finder, if his camera is not so equipped. This gadget helps him to quickly determine focusing distance.

He's a Color Fan?

Is your photofan a color worker? Then how about a projector for his slides? Or you may prefer to get him a dissolve control outfit which throws a new slide on the screen automatically as the image of the preceding slide fades out.

Then there's darkroom equipment—starting with a simple, inexpensive kit containing everything the novice needs to develop and print his pictures. Print trimmers, timers, tray siphons also are on the required list for the darkroom worker. And some of the popular models of enlargers which were in scarce supply a year ago now are available.

So if you have a photofan to shop for, go to your camera dealer. Ask him for gift advice. Chances are he will find something sure to please—and within the price range you wish.

It takes two to make a marriage—a single girl and an anxious mother.

Santa's Pretty Helper—Photographic items offer the Christmas shopper a wide choice of gifts if there is a photofan on the list. Camera shops are pretty well stocked.

New Photographic Squadron Commanded by KP Officer

The squadron is concerned with

Compilation of documentary mapping and photographic records also is part of its work. The latest developments in photography will be studied and utilized for these activities of the Reserve personnel, Van Noy said.

Maj. Fred Kline, Paper Service, Bldg. 57 at KP, and Lt. Frank Fernandez, Export Sales, Kodak Office, also are officers in the squadron.

A farmer and his son were working when the old man tripped on a snag and fell. He got up and said: "Gosh darn that stump! I wish it was in -----."

"Pop," said the son, "I wouldn't say that. You might stumble over it again some day."

Jackpot of Pups Crowds KP Man

"It's a dog-gone shame!" wailed George Koehler of the Dope Dept. at Kodak Park, who recently acquired 13 pups through no fault of his own. And then he was faced with a pet housing dilemma.

The Koehler saga began some weeks ago when George's son went to Canada on a fishing trip. Down on his angling luck, he met up with a man who similarly found the hunting in that region poor. Putting their heads together, our two frustrated sportsmen exchanged fishing rod and dog, each hoping that this would bring a change of luck.

When he got back to Rochester with the Canadian canine in tow, the youngster proudly turned the dog over to his dad. Three weeks later the Koehler household was blessed with a litter of 13 puppies. Then George was veritably in a dog house.

"What say, folks, anybody need a faithful companion?" he pleaded.

Out of the Skies—When J. A. Penfold, Kodak salesman, was given a testimonial dinner recently in Kansas City, Mo., marking his retirement Jan. 1, his friends came from many areas to honor him. Here is a group arriving at the airport to attend the dinner. From left, Jim Bessellieu, KO Sales Dept.; Jim McGhee, EK vice-president and general sales manager; Jim Hill, assistant manager of the Chicago Branch; George Weitzel, salesman, and Clyde Moulin, KO, manager of EK Stores. Penfold has been with the Company for more than 30 years.

Hi, Josh!—It was quite a reunion when Josiah Resue, left, of the Carpenter Shop, KP, and Josiah Coppens, Box Dept., KP, met recently. They had played together as boys in Holland.

Dutch Lads of 40 Years Ago Meet Again at Kodak Park

It's a small world after all.

So say two Kodak Park namesakes, Josiah Resue, of the Carpenter Shop, Bldg. 23, and Josiah Coppens, Box Dept., fellow countrymen who met only recently for the first time since leaving their native Holland some 40 years ago.

When last seen, they were still reminiscing about the good old days when they played together as youngsters near the North Sea.

As it was, their happy reunion occurred quite by chance. Josiah (Coppens, that is) paid a visit to the Carpenter Shop, where Resue had prepared several samples of work for the Box Dept. At first the two failed to recognize each other. Then Resue led with a funny remark, whereupon Coppens broke into an infectious laugh. Resue at once became curious and asked, "Haven't we met before?"

There followed further questioning, all of which served to break a barrier the years had imposed. "Aren't you Josiah Coppens?"

That did it. The two fell into each other's arms and spent most of the next half-hour exchanging recollections of the past.

Films Brief Tourist Throngs On Visits to Colonial Town

The 300,000 yearly tourists to Williamsburg, the colonial town restored by John D. Rockefeller Jr., now easily can learn and evaluate what to see, thanks to film.

A new reception center with a 400-seat auditorium opened in March between the Inn and the Lodge. Orientation films and slides are shown there eight times daily. Its night program alternates between showings of "Eighteenth Century Life in Williamsburg, Va.," a Kodachrome movie made by KO's Informational Films in conjunction with Colonial Williamsburg, and illustrated slide lectures about the town.

These facts were pointed out by Dr. Edward Alexander, director of education for Colonial Williamsburg, and his assistant, Richard Showman, during their recent visit at KO with Ken Cunningham. The latter is manager of Kodak's Motion Picture Films Dept.

Spreads Story

The education department, they explained, also attempts to bring to other than visitors to the town the story of Williamsburg, which is in large part the story of early America and the building of a nation. It produces slide series for the Society of Visual Education which are shown to school children throughout the country, and the U. S. State Department has used its material, including "Eighteenth Century Life," in many countries. Colonial Williamsburg's own staff also gives illustrated lectures within the U. S.

The public relations department uses photography extensively, they continued. For instance, pictures are taken of all honeymooners in Williamsburg and sent to their hometown newspaper.

This department has prepared illustrated books on the historic town, and also prepares much exhibit work.

The research department also employs photography, they added. It purchases microfilmed copies of historic records for its use.

Long KP Service Ends For Sanford, Stephens

Two KP men will wind up long service careers with the Company this month. They are George I. Sanford, Paper Sensitizing, and Levi T. Stephens, Roll Coating.

Safety Men

Charles Goldy joined Kodak in 1916 at CW, transferring to the Film Emulsion Coating Dept. at Kodak Park in 1922. In 1923 he became a member of the Industrial Economy Dept., now known as Industrial Engineering, where he still serves in the capacity of industrial engineer.

Chas. Goldy

Charles DeMallie started at CW in 1937, transferring to the Wage Standards Section of the Industrial Eng. Dept. at KP in 1944.

Geo. Gustat

George Gustat, assistant superintendent of the Ind. Eng. Dept., has been associated with KP since 1930 when he joined General Office. Since then he has been a member of the Export Shipping Office, the Time Office and Clerical Survey before taking a post with the Wage Standards Section of the Industrial Engineering Dept. in 1940.

Gabel Goes To EK Safety

Robert J. Gabel, formerly of DPI, has been added to the staff of the KP Safety Dept. as a safety engineer.

A graduate of Syracuse University School of Architecture in 1936, he was for a time in charge of the Albany office of an architectural firm. In 1941 he returned to Rochester and joined the Engineering Dept. of Distillation Products, Inc. While in this department he began part-time duties as safety director, and as the plant increased he became full-time director of its safety program.

He is a member of the American Society of Safety Engineers.

Lawrence Buckley Funeral Conducted

Last rites for Lt. Lawrence Buckley, killed in action in the Makin Island area during World War II, were held recently in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery following services in the Pro-Cathedral of the Sacred Heart.

Lieutenant Buckley, a former member of the Emulsion Melting Dept., enlisted in the Army in 1940, received his basic training at Fort Dix, N.J., and was commissioned at Fort Benning, Ga., in 1943 before being assigned to overseas duty. He was stationed in the Hawaiian Islands before being assigned to duty in the South Pacific.

A sister, Madeline Lamb, is in Inventory Control, Bldg. 58, and a brother, Leslie, is in the Garage.

Sanford, a foreman in his department, joined KP in 1917 as a stock handler in Bldg. 35, then occupied by the Sensitizing Dept. He was appointed a supervisor in 1925 and named a foreman in 1942. He plans to spend his leisure time as a "gentleman farmer" at his country home.

Stephens came to KP in 1923, joining the Drafting Dept. in Bldg. 23. He transferred in 1925 to Roll Coating where he was a member of Bldg. 53 until his retirement. He plans to spend the winter in St. Petersburg, Fla., returning to Rochester next June. While in the South he will pursue his favorite hobby of making fish poles.

Members of the Park's Boy Scout Troop 50 were guests of DPI at a children's theater party Saturday morning, Nov. 20, at the Riviera Theater. Harry Paddock, Bldg. 26, chairman of the troop committee, was in charge of the group. . . . Sarah Clegg, Finished Film Supplies, is back from England after an exciting vacation during which she visited relatives whom she had not seen in 21 years. Although her voyage aboard the Queen Elizabeth was delayed 24 hours in New York by a heavy fog, her itinerary abroad included Buckingham Palace; Stratford-on-Avon, birthplace of Shakespeare; the famous old cathedral in Lichfield; the castle in Warwickshire; and Staffordshire, where the famous bone china is made.

Ice cream and cake were served to about 30 guests who attended an impromptu party held in the Dope Dept., Bldg. 119, in honor of Charles Crandell on his completion of 25 years' service. John Folwell, superintendent of the Chemical Plant, and Vic Kimmel, general foreman of the Dope Dept., made the Eastman Medal and pin presentations. . . . Ed Rizzo, Printing, had a singing role in a play recently presented by the Community Playhouse of the Air on Station WNET. Lou Babbitt, Bldg. 26, is director of the program. . . . Lester (Buck) Brown, Bldg. 34, and Mrs. Brown, and Clarence Duell, Bldg. 99, motored to Great Barrington, Mass., to attend the 50th wedding anniversary of Buck's brother, George, and Mrs. Brown. . . . Alma Delles, Frances Moss, Lucille Rice, Virginia DeBrucker, Ruth Burgomaster, Dorothy Wilkinson, Malinda Kraft and Mary Comisso, all of the Box Dept., paid a surprise visit to Alfred, N.Y., where Margaret Klingensmith's husband teaches at the university.

Malm Dined, 25-Year Man

A testimonial dinner for Carl J. Malm, superintendent of the Cellulose Acetate Development Dept., who recently completed 25 years' service with Kodak, was held last night at the University Club.

Dr. C. R. Fordyce, superintendent of the Dept. of Mfg. Expts. and formerly of C.A.D., acted as master of ceremonies. He introduced as guest speakers Charles Fletcher of Tennessee Eastman Corporation and Dr. Hans Clarke, head of the Dept. of Biochemistry at Columbia University.

Dr. L. B. Genung handled arrangements for the affair.

Young Carolers Sing at KP Dec. 23

A half-hour program of Christmas carols will be heard in the new gym Thursday afternoon, Dec. 23, beginning at 12:15. Square dancing will be omitted on that day.

The singers will be a group of youngsters, ranging in ages from 5 to 12, from the Genesee Settlement House in Duke Street. Their program will be piped into the Cafeteria. In addition to its noon-hour appearance in the gym, the ensemble will render Yuletide airs in other plant areas.

The boys and girls will be luncheon guests of the Company during their brief visit to the plant.

Stop and Look!

Lists of the 11th period adoptions of suggestions and the rejections for the 12th period have been posted on Kodak Park department bulletin boards. You'd better look them over to determine the status of your recent suggestions.

Did You Move?

New forms are available in your department to be filled out if you have changed your address recently. Report such changes immediately to your supervisor so that records may be kept up to date.

Bolivian Who Trained at EK Sitting 'On Top of the World'

Marcos Kavlin is sitting "on top of the world!" Kodak Rochester and Philadelphia Store folks will remember Marc for they saw a good deal of him during the past two years when he was in the States for training supervised by KO's Export Dept.

... manages father's store.

He's on top of the world now for two reasons. To begin with, he is back home in La Paz, Bolivia, highest capital city in the world—14,000 feet up on the Altiplano. This high plateau of the Andes is behind formidable ranges of jagged peaks and in the shadow of perpetually snow-capped Mt. Illimani which reaches 22,000 feet into space!

To Marry Jan. 8

The second reason that he's on top of the world is that on Jan. 8 he will marry Joyce Hall, daughter of a British naval commander of Plymouth, England. Marc met her through friends when he was assigned to the Philadelphia Store.

During the time he was in the States, his father, don Enrique Kavlin, owner of Casa Kavlin and Kodak's representative in Bolivia, completed construction of a six-story building opposite the ancient cathedral in the center of La Paz.

Half of the street-level front has been given over to an ultramodern retail store for the sale of Kodak products. Marc is going to manage this, and hopes with his special training to set a new standard in distribution and service. He is also busy modernizing their large finishing plant, wanting to help expand the facilities of the wholesale organization within the possibilities of the country's favorable trade balance.

Chest Tour

Kodakers Conclude Tour with Hospital Visit

Red Feather tourists from Kodak Park rounded out their 10-tour survey of 20 of the 46 Community Chest Red Feather services by visiting General Hospital.

After witnessing the advances in medical science and hospital care, as evidenced at the hospital, the visiting group took an active

Representing the E&M Division were Fred Ballard, Cecil Birnie, Robert Henry, John Johnston, Keith Parker and Harold Veness. William Dingemane represented the Yard Dept.

The group inspected operating rooms, where approximately 7000 operations have been performed so over 20,000 visits have already been made this year.

During the quiz period, Dr. Lowe and Royle collaborated in answering the questions of their Kodak visitors. They explained that because of improvements in drugs and techniques, which enable the patient to return earlier to his job, hospital care actually costs people less per illness than formerly—even though the per-day cost is higher.

Rising costs of supplies, equipment and salaries, along with the greatly increased number of patients cared for, have placed hospitals in a serious financial state, they pointed out, adding that increased hospital business sometimes means increased operating deficits in spite of doing everything possible to effect economy and efficiency.

Communities, they explained, expect specialized medical care of the highest quality and the hospitals are giving it, although serving a high percentage of patients on an actual less-than-cost basis. To meet this situation hospitals are now forced to dip into endowments.

Asked "How do hospitals use funds from the Community Chest?" the speakers replied that Chest contributions are used to make up the difference between the actual cost of hospital care and the amounts which patients are able to pay. Some patients can pay for only part of their hospital care; some can pay nothing. This year Chest contributions to five city hospitals—Genesee, General, Highland, St. Mary's and Strong—amounted to $220,000.

Celita met Pedro and his brother in Fairbanks, Alaska, after they had bicycled 27,000 miles from their home in Buenos Aires, Argentina, through 15 countries on a goodwill trip. Celita, visiting an uncle in Alaska, disliked cold weather intensely and offered to act as translator for the brothers if they would bring her to New York in their jeep. She had learned Spanish from her parents, both Latin Americans, now living in San Francisco. The other brother, Carlos, was taken ill and hospitalized in Chicago. After a stay in New York, Celita will return to California and the boys will "jeep" on home to the Argentine with a stop-off at the White House. Hornos, also an Argentine, was their host at Kodak Office.

Daughter Arrives Pearl Harbor Day

Seven years ago, Dec. 7, 1941, John Vandenberg Brul was at Pearl Harbor stationed aboard the hospital ship, USS Solace, when the Japs struck.

Dec. 7, 1948, found the KO Shipping Dept. man in another hospital, the Park Avenue, "sweating out" the arrival of his first youngster.

Mother and daughter, Carol Ann, who was born at 2 p.m., are doing fine, and John is now vacationing to care for them at home.

John, a yeoman, third class, at the time of Pearl Harbor, said that his ship was next to the USS Arizona when she blew up.

Camera Club Lists Courses

Registrations for Kodak Camera Club classes, starting Jan. 10, will be accepted until Jan. 6, it has been announced.

Eight courses are slated for the winter program, including Elementary Photography, Hand Coloring, Portraiture, Special Applications, Practical Photography, Elementary Sensitometry, Dye Transfer and Photomechanical Reproduction.

Additional information regarding the subjects may be obtained at club headquarters in Bldg. 4 at Kodak Park, Ext. 2385.

Elementary Photography (12 weeks, beginning Jan. 10—$12): A course of study for those who have had little or no experience in photography.

Hand Coloring (12 weeks, beginning Jan. 11—$12): An elementary course covering the hand coloring of prints and the use of oil and water colors.

Portraiture (12 weeks, beginning Jan. 12—$12): Home lighting with simplified equipment and studio lighting with more advanced equipment form the background for these studies which stress basic lighting requirements, proper posing and placement of models, fill-in, and catch lights for several types of lighting.

Special Applications (6 weeks, beginning Jan. 12—$8): This will embrace the following subjects: Copying for continuous-tone and line work, photomechanical reproduction, television, special uses for scientific industries, photomicrography, and clinical photography.

Salon Awards To Be Made Tonight at KO

Presentation of 84 awards won by Kodak people from many parts of the globe in the 14th Kodak International Salon of Photography will be made tonight, Dec. 16.

Don McMaster, EK vice-president who is honorary chairman of the Salon, will present the cups, trophies and other silver pieces along with the medals and certificates. The ceremonies will be in the State Street auditorium at 8.

Doors of the auditorium will open at 7 p.m. and the assemblage then will see the 388 pictorial, nature and color prints which will be on display for the first time. Kodak people and their friends may attend.

Ralph Sutherland, president of the Kodak Camera Club, announced that the 312 color slides chosen from the hundreds submitted in the Salon will be projected. The Color Committee of the Salon, headed by Robert A. Morris of KP, has grouped the slides according to the type, provided titles and has dubbed in a musical program.

Display at KP Dec. 22

The pictorial display will go to Kodak Park for showing in the new gym on Dec. 22. Kodak folks and their families may view the prints beginning at 7 p.m. and the slides will be projected at 8:30 o'clock. It will be a one-day show at the Park, according to Charles A. Kinsley, KO, general chairman of the Salon.

Others assisting with the Salon, for which the Kodak Camera Club was host this year, are William Holland, KP, treasurer; Lois Tuttle, KP, secretary; Kenneth W. Brenner, KP, vice-chairman, and these committee chairmen: color, Robert A. Morris, KP; prints, Louis J. Parker, KO; nature, J. Lawrence Hill Jr., KP; judges, Chester W. Wheeler, H-E; awards, H. Lou Gibson, KO; publicity, Vera Wilson, KO; printing, William Roberts, KO.

KP Blood Donors Give 1000 Pints to Red Cross

Close to 1000 pints of blood were donated by Kodak Park men and women during the recent visit of the Red Cross Mobile Blood Collecting Unit.

Stationed at the plant from Nov. 29 through Dec. 8, the Unit chalked up its best record during the first five days of its stay, when some 734 donations were received. The best single day was recorded Nov. 30, when 172 pints were donated.

The daily collections averaged 123 pints for the eight-day stay. During a two-week period last March, KP people contributed 1042 pints to the Mobile Unit.

The blood collections were in charge of Mrs. Lindsay Miner of the Recruitment Div. of the Rochester Regional Blood Program.

Color Conference—Peg Macaulay, color technician in the Professional Sales Studio, KO, points out color correction on a print to a trio of technical representatives. They are members of a group here for two weeks to brush up on photographic techniques. From left are Frank Quinn, St. Louis; Charles Gummer, Cincinnati; Peg, and W. A. Lively, Memphis.

THERE are 20 candles on the cake for one of Kodak's plans, celebrating its anniversary this month. On hand to wish it a "Happy Birthday" are some of the Kodak folks who down through the years have come under its provisions for Retirement Annuities, Life Insurance or Disability Payments.

Get-Together — These retired smiling Kodak Park folks were "snapped" as they chatted before last week's annual dinner of the Park Pioneers' Club, whose members have been with Kodak 25 years or more. Their combined Company service records total nearly 204 years. From left: Henry Faber, Edward Dietrick, Julia Wirth, John J. Canavan, Howard Beuckman and Fred Pringle.

Tuning In — An ardent radio fan is Alphonse Wolter, 66, who keeps his ear to the air waves for his favorite programs. A former member of CW Dept. 33, Al retired in 1931, under the disability phase of the Company's program until last year when he came under the annuity plan. He's proud of his 25-year Kodak medal which he keeps in a prominent spot on his radio.

Insurance Payment — Visiting Nurse Pauline Nack, right, gives Flora Doerr a check under the Group Life Insurance Policy of her late husband, Wendel F. Doerr of Camera Works. She's the mother of nine children, five married and four at home. Two work at CW.

A Look Around — Louis H. Ehrmann, center, sees familiar places and faces in H-E Dept. 33 as Fred VonDeben, Hawk-Eye superintendent, left, conducts a one-man tour. Louis examines a Swiss jig borer, operated by Fred Newton. Ehrmann retired from Dept. 39 after 27 years with Kodak, 11 of which he was Dept. 33 foreman.

Bowler — Jack Beldue, who retired from Kodak Office in July 1945 after 41 years with the Company, is one of the standbys of the KO National Bowling League. Jack's the only pinster who can lay claim to rolling with the league all through its 21 years, at present sports a 147 average.

79 Years Young — Emily Fratter, a spry 79, has been a busy woman since retiring from the Park in 1929, one of the first two women to retire under the Company's plan. Nice weather finds Emily pattering around the yard, and in the winter she sews for dolls to give to needy kiddies for Christmas. She's showing Corrine Waldert, head of Kodak's Visiting Nurses, one she's "dolloped up" for this year.

First Check — Frank Treat, one of the latest Kodak folks to retire, left the Company Nov. 1. He was in Bldg. 34, Kodak Park. That's Evelyn Ireland, EK Visiting Nurse, who's handing him his first annuity check. He's resting up now for a rather strenuous spring and summer which lie ahead when he'll garden and paint his house.

Christmas Dinner Prompts Kodakers To Whip Up Favorite Family Dishes

Christmas dinner . . . it's a great time to prepare a favorite family dish, a dish usually associated with the yule holiday. Every culinary artist has her own special Christmas recipe with just that certain sumpin' to it. KODAKERY has obtained them from several EKers.

Phyllis Ludwig, Hawk-Eye Suggestion Dept., claims that her steam pudding is "one of those things we just have to have, that's all there is to it. My mother used to make it when we were small and it's always been a big hit," she said. It's called:

Christmas Delight

1 c. beef suet (ground or cut fine)
1 c. raisins
1 c. currants
1 c. raw grated carrots
1 c. raw grated potatoes
Small piece of citron, orange peel and lemon peel
1 c. brown sugar
1 t. baking soda
1 t. cloves
1 t. cinnamon
1/2 t. nutmeg
1 c. flour

Phyllis Ludwig

Mix all ingredients in large bowl. Add water or milk until mixture reaches a thick, pasty consistency. Put in greased pan or bowl lined with wax paper and cover securely with wax paper greased on inside. Place pan or bowl in pressure cooker or steamer and steam one hour. If pressure cooker is used at 10 lbs. pressure, two hours if steamer is used. Serve when warm and top with wine, rum or lemon sauce.

In the family of Edythe Morrison, CW Dept. 75, Christmas isn't Christmas without the perennial cookies. Edythe's recipe is simple and effective.

Christmas Cookies

1 c. butter
1 c. sugar
1/2 t. salt
1 1/2 t. baking powder

Edythe Morrison

2 eggs
1 T. milk
2 3/4 c. flour
1 t. vanilla
Cream butter and sugar. Add eggs, milk and vanilla. Gradually add flour sifted with salt and baking powder. Chill in refrigerator or ice box, then roll thin on floured board and cut out in fancy shapes. Sprinkle with colored sugar. Bake 10 to 12 minutes in 400 to 425 degree oven.

Cranberry salad is a meal-hit with Mary E. Gillipeau, KP Paper Finishing, who recently completed a Red Cross course in cooking. Here's her recipe for it.

Cranberry Salad

1 c. strained, unsweetened cranberry sauce
1/3 c. sugar
1 c. ginger ale
1 pkg. plain gelatin
1 c. crushed drained pineapple
1 c. diced celery
2 T. lemon juice
1/2 c. chopped walnut meats

Soak gelatin in cold water. Dissolve gelatin and sugar in hot cranberry sauce. When cool, add lemon juice, ginger ale and pineapple. When slightly congealed, stir in chopped celery and nut meats and turn into molds. When firm, unmold and serve on lettuce with mayonnaise. A teaspoon of horseradish added to the dressing gives a delightful piquancy. Serves 6.

Lorraine Smyke, KO Stenographic and KODAKERY, claims her mother has no special name for the following recipe, but its main components are red cabbage and apples, an unusual and tempting vegetable dish. Lorraine looks forward to it with savory anticipation. Here are the ingredients and method.

Red Cabbage and Apples

2 T. butter or margarine
1 medium size onion
1 red cabbage
1/2 t. cinnamon
1/2 t. nutmeg
6 apples
2 T. vinegar
3 T. sugar
Salt to taste

After melting butter and onion in frying pan, put in large cooking pan. Shred cabbage. Slice and peel apples. Add these plus 1/2 cup water and other ingredients to browned onion. Cook on top of stove until apples are tender. Stir occasionally. Serve hot.

If you want a salad truly festive for the Christmas dinner table, try the recipe of Winnie Boelio, CW Dept. 75. Fruits are the main ingredients of Winnie's:

Christmas Candle Salad

Bananas
Slice pineapple
Cream cheese
Maraschino cherries
Lettuce
Mayonnaise

Place slice of pineapple on lettuce leaf. Cut off one end of banana and slice tip of other end. Stand banana in center of pineapple. Dilute mayonnaise with pineapple juice and put small amount on top of banana. Top with half a maraschino cherry. Cut groove in side of banana and arrange half slice of pineapple for handle. Mix cheese with dressing diluted with pineapple juice and put around banana for snow effect.

YEN FOR YAMS? — Dress 'em up the easy way. When baking or boiling them for dinner, cook a few extra. Then you can peel, mash and form them into little balls. Roll yam balls in grated coconut, chopped peanuts or crushed cereal flakes and bake in moderate oven 15 minutes. Serve hot. Another variation is to slip a piece of pineapple or marshmallow into the center of each ball before baking.

Fur

Fashion —

Phyllis Uhl, KP X-ray Sheet Film, shows just how effective the stole in fur can be. This one is a sable blended Siberian squirrel with mink tails. Both the stole and stunning red velvet formal with full skirt and low round neck are from Edwards.

Here's How Mary Became Engaged

Everyone in KO Advertising wants to meet Mary DiNitto's fiancé, Augie DiBiase, who is at KP.

Saturday, Dec. 4, he took Mary shopping for most of the day, followed by dinner. Then they stopped at church and he slipped a lovely engagement ring on her finger there.

About 9 o'clock they returned to her house, where 60 friends had gathered to celebrate their engagement. The following Tuesday was Mary's twenty-first birthday, and Augie sent her 21 red roses at KO and gave her a beautiful watch.

Make 'em Yourself

No experience or expense necessary to make these colorful dolls for Christmas—just old socks and a well-stocked scrap bag. The Mummy doll is toggled out in a flowered blouse and bandanna, crisp white apron and kerchief. Pagliacci has a half-striped, half-plain suit and a big cone hat with pompom trim.

Free instructions on how to make 'em can be had in your KODAKERY Office or by writing KODAKERY, 343 State St.

Six in KO Sales Knit Neckties

Knit-a-Tie Kits have several KO Sales Dept. girls busy "needling" for the men in their lives.

Helen Kammer, Arlene Zimmer, Kay Armbruster, Elaine Croston, Corrine Staub, Velma Dean, all of Sales, and Jane Williams, of Patent, are knitting rapidly, hoping to finish them before Christmas.

The kits contain 12 2/3 ounces of Angel Crepe yarn and complete directions with charts for making any one of six designs shown.

One pair of size 0 aluminum knitting needles and a set of Bucilla yarn bobbins are the only other requirements. Stitch counters are a big help, according to Helen.

The girls claim they're fun to do, light to carry around and fit in small knitting bags. They're interesting to do because of the design, and easy to follow because of the block pattern.

Santa's Bag to Bulge with Handiwork

The Days Before Christmas — Knitting needles, tatting shuttles and crochet hooks all are working furiously in the Hawk-Eye Chem. Lab during free periods as six young women finish up products for Santa Claus' big bundle. From left in the above picture are Jessie Herren working on mittens, Dolores Kupaki also knitting mittens, Charlotte Bohrmann (in foreground) tatting handkerchief lace, Lois Kilx crocheting handkerchief edging, Rita Oberlies making a baby sweater-set and Frances Patch crocheting hot plate mats featured in KODAKERY.

Amber Pursues Music Studies In New York

Amber Bailey

A girl with a voice and musical ambition has left the KP Paper Finishing Dept. to become a pupil of Louis D'Angelo, for 30 years a star of the "Met". Attractive Amber Bailey is staying within the folds of Kodak, however, and now works in the Company's Hudson St. Store in New York City.

Father's Proud

She and her mother have found living quarters in St. Albans, Long Island, but here in Rochester, eagerly watching his daughter's progress is Paul Bailey, veteran of the Paper Finishing Dept. He visited them Thanksgiving Day.

The young soprano, serious in her intent to fully develop her talents of voice and piano, also plans to join an opera workshop.

She previously received private instructions in music and for several years attended the Eastman School of Music. She has studied with Guy Fraser Harrison in the Civic Chorus and sang in recitals at Kilbourn Hall.

The Market Place

KODAKERY ads are accepted on a first-come, first-served basis. Department correspondents in each Kodak Division are supplied with ad blanks which, when your ad is typed or printed on them in 25 words or less, are put in the Company mail addressed to "KODAKERY," or handed in to your plant editor. All ads should be received by KODAKERY before 10 a.m., Tuesday, of the week preceding issue. HOME PHONE NUMBERS OR ADDRESSES MUST BE USED IN ADS. KODAKERY reserves the right to refuse ads and limit the number of words used. Suggested types are: FOR SALE, FOR RENT, WANTED, WANTED TO RENT, LOST AND FOUND, SWAPS. KODAKERY READERS ARE ASKED TO PLACE ADS ONLY FOR THEMSELVES AND HOUSEHOLD—NOT FOR FRIENDS OR RELATIVES. TO DO THIS IS TO DENY SPACE TO THE PEOPLE OF KODAK FOR WHOM THIS SPACE IS RESERVED.

Chalks Up 657 To Win Kodak Gals' Handicap

A 657 handicap total posted by Sarah Baker, rolling with the first squad, withstood all subsequent shelling last Sunday and won for the CW keglerette the championship of the first Kodak Women's Singles Handicap. For her efforts Sarah receives a $50 cash award, the President's trophy—a handsome engraved wrist watch, and special cash awards.

The champion bowls in the Century "house" league and carries a 145 average.

Second best in the field of 145 Kodak women was Ruth Heisner, KP, who came along at 6 p.m. to toss a 640 total. Four pins behind in third place was another KP keglerette, Marion Matthews.

Best Scratch Score

Sarah's 657 series included a 115 spot. Her actual games were 178, 150 and 214 for a 542 series. She won $5 and $2.50 special awards for her scratch series and single, respectively.

Additional $15 awards were offered for high scores from the other three plants. These went to Ruth Heisner, KP; Ann Van Dyk, KO, and Mary Tuzzolino and Janet Weaver of H-E. The latter two tied and received $7.50 apiece.

Some 35 prize winners split a melon of nearly $250. A complete list of winners, including their scores and prize money, appears in an adjoining column.

Esther Mowers, Cafeteria team keglerette in the KPAA Girls' 6-team league, is making with the smiles after her recent performance on the Ridge lanes. A 107-pin average bowler, Esther rolled 192.

Flint Tourneys Listed at Park

The annual KP men's singles bowling championship for the C. K. Flint Trophy is scheduled for the Ridge alleys Jan. 22.

The girls' event is listed for Mar. 5. The popular KPAA mixed threesome event will be held Feb. 12.

KP Yard Dept. bowlers are beginning to wonder who's next in the jinx parade.

Following close on the heels of Tony Jackman's 386 series comes word that George Abrey recently fell apart at Ridge for a 375 three-game count during a regular KPAA "A" loop session.

The KPAA girls' 4-team cage wheel opens its winter slate in the new Kodak Park gym Dec. 21.

Bldg. 23 Trips Engineering

Bldg. 23 upset Engineering, 36-35, in the feature game on last week's KPAA Departmental League card.

In other contests Testing edged Industrial Engineering, 38-34, with Stewart Mickelson posting 16 points; Emulsion Research racked up a 45-33 decision over Cafeteria, as Jim Shepler and Les Mort scored 16 points apiece for their respective teams, and Joe Rorick scored 20 points to pace Power to a 48-28 win over Bldg. 58.

Forward Ben Holloway was the hero in the thrilling Bldg. 23-Engineering fracas, sinking a one-hander with three seconds to go to decide the game. Lanky Jim Griffin of the Engineers topped the scoring with a 16-point total.

Graflex Beats Kodak Office In 1st Start

Kodak Park won its third game in as many starts in the Champion Industrial League Dec. 13, thrashing Commercial Controls, 90-27. "Red" Overmyer's 19 points paced the Kaypees' attack. In their Major Industrial opener CW won, and KO, which took a franchise at the 11th hour, lost to Graflex.

Previously the Kaypees had administered a 79-48 defeat to Graflex on Dec. 6, with Overmyer ringing the bell for 25 markers. Jack Ellison collected 16, Chuck Nesbitt 15 and George Snelgrove 12 to add to the avalanche.

In the Major Dusty wheel Camera Works ran rough shod over Ritters, 66-35, with a well-balanced offensive. Bill Maslanka, Dick Spiegel, Chuck Gray and John Coia were the heaviest contributors, but five others chipped in on the point production.

The Kodak Office-Graflex tussle the same night saw an undermanned KO club bow, 71-30. Graflex built up a 35-14 lead in the first half and coasted to victory. Jim Arnold, with 11 points, was high for Kodak Office. Box scores:

Cap Carroll Rolls 686

Kodak's kegler, who got off to a comparatively slow start this season, are waxing warmer by the week. Cap Carroll, the popular HEAA director, is the most recent bowler to crash the headlines.

Bowling in the Hawk-Eye Webber wheel last week, Cap posted a new season individual series record when he crayed a 686 three-game total. The former three-plate record was 676 rolled by Bob Wilson the previous week. Cap finished his series on games of 215, 214 and 247.

Branch Takes KO Leadership

Rochester Branch made it two in a row, and the Office Penpushers dented the win column last week in the KO Basketball League.

John Scheible's first stringers went the distance against Shipping, routing Tony Adams' charges, 45-25. Boyd Losee scored 12 points on six fielders to lead the onslaught.

Beaten opening week by the Branch, Ken Mason's Penpushers bounced back with a decisive 40-28 win over Repair. George Schaller snagged 12 for the losers, but was topped by Mason who totaled 15. Sid Nichols was close behind Ken with 10. The Penpushers led 22-15 at half-time.

CW Leaders Rack Up Wins

Depts. 63 and 37 kept their perfect records intact with easy wins Dec. 6 in the CW Plant League.

Bill Haynes led Dept. 63 to a 32-17 victory over Dept. 22, while John Coia's crew thumped Dept. 66, 61-43.

In other games Dept. 30 swamped J Bldg., 45-25, and Bob Grant notched 20 points in Dept. 26's 44-11 rout of Dept. 70. Standings:
