Got Any Radioactive Rocks? This Back Yard Test Will Tell

Chances are you won't find any radioactive minerals in your back yard.

But if you want to look for them, Dr. Julian H. Webb of Kodak's Research Laboratories is willing to tell you how to go about it.

All you need is a photo material—known as a Kodak nuclear track plate—and a microscope. Then here's what you do: Place the nuclear track plate against a likely-looking rock in your garden. And leave it there for two weeks.

If the rock contains a radioactive mineral, such as zircon, carnotite, monazite, or pitchblende, the photo plate will register the tracks of alpha particles—tiny bits of energy—from the radioactive atoms in the mineral.

Because of the short paths of alpha particles from naturally radioactive materials, only those radioactive atoms in the very surface of the mineral are effective. Thus, the long exposure—one or two weeks—is required.

The paths of the particles, if they are emitted from a mineral in your garden, will be marked in the emulsion by a trail of developable photo grains. After conventional developing, you can examine the plate with your microscope. If you find the tracks—a series of dark scratches—you'll know there's radioactivity near by.

This technique is one of those now being used in exploration for uranium-bearing ores, Dr. Webb points out.

Press Photographer Cites Picture-Taking Progress

"Press photography has come a long way from its flash powder days, but there is still room for improvement."

That's the belief of an acknowledged expert, Joseph Costa of King Features, who visited Kodak Park with many other well-known news lensmen. Members of the National Press Photographers' Association Inc., Region 2, were in Rochester for a convention.

Costa, chairman of the National Press Photographers' Association board, declared that picture-taking techniques had improved to a high level but other "bugs" remain.

"For one thing, a press photographer's equipment is too bulky. Any lightening of this load would be good news to the man who has to carry a camera and other accessories at least several hours every day," Costa said.

"Manufacturers of photographic

Distillation Products Observes Tenth Anniversary of Opening

Growing—This is Bldg. 8 of Distillation Products, Inc., now celebrating its 10th anniversary. Bldg. 8, located in Mt. Read Blvd., is one of the newest and biggest of DPI's structures. Known as the oil processing plant, this building has 105,900 square feet of floor space. Additional operations are being transferred from Ridge Rd. to Mt. Read plant.

Yesterday was an anniversary for 27 DPI people.

Ten years ago, on June 1, 1939, Distillation Products, Inc., officially set up headquarters in a new little building out Ridge Rd. West. That was moving day for many of the 27, and the rest followed soon in the transfer of DPI's operations from a downtown office and from sections of Bldgs. 44 and 59 in Kodak Park. Although DPI had been incorporated by Eastman Kodak and General Mills a year before, for the first time it had a home of its own.

It had all begun several years before when, in Kodak's research on making photographic film for the tropics, vacuum pumps came in for some study. The pumps they had then employed mercury and were unsuitable for work with film. A new kind of pump—the oil diffusion pump—was developed. It proved so efficient that it was decided to exploit it commercially in the vitamin business, producing high vacuum for the distillation of Vitamin A from shark liver oil and cod liver oil.

The new stills designed for this purpose interested General Mills in Minneapolis. They were constantly looking for improvements in the food and vitamin field, and they went into partnership with Kodak. Vitamins A and E were produced. The "partnership" became Distillation Products.

Vitamin A and E concentrates are DPI's chief products today, as in the beginning. They're extracted from fish liver oils and vegetable oils. These are sold, usually in liquid form, to drug and margarine companies. The firms put them into capsules or pills and margarine.

During the war, DPI found that the Army and Navy were willing to buy all the high vacuum pumps it could turn out. The object was to produce vacuum for putting transparent coatings on lenses of periscopes and other optical instruments.

Before long DPI found itself spreading out of its little vacuum equipment laboratories. The modern one-story building with "Vacuum Equipment Division" let-

'Hall of Fame' Elects Jones

Lewis B. Jones, vice-president in charge of sales and advertising for Kodak at the time of his death, Aug. 25, 1934, has been named to Advertising's "Hall of Fame."

Announcement was made by Andrew J. Haire, member of the committee of judges for the Advertising Federation of America, that Mr. Jones was selected as one of the first 10 so honored.

The 10 men, all of whom had to be deceased at least two years for eligibility, were honored for "special achievement and service in the upbuilding and advancement of the social and economic value of advertising." They are considered as the all-time "greats" in the field of advertising.

Mr. Jones was selected because "as advertising manager of Eastman Kodak Company, he led the way in the large and effective use of advertising by manufacturers."

The citation for election to the "Hall of Fame" said in part:

"As a pioneer in national advertising, he originated standards and practices which became models for others. Kodak advertising was attractive, effective and consistent. Contrary to much of the advertising of those early years, it was also characterized by a high moral tone. As someone

Well, Well, Wo's This?—That's exactly what Guard John Scott wondered when he came upon two kiddies' strollers. They were parked neatly in front of Bldg. 26, the Park's Administration Building, where only cars of people having business at the plant usually are parked. Scottie, who is stationed at the main south gate, near Bldg. 26, investigated further. He ascertained that the business was legitimate. The youngsters were accompanied on a visit to Bldg. 12 by their mothers, Doris Sengle and Lillie Short. Both formerly were in Sheet Film Packing. Doris' husband, Bob, is in F.D. 8, Lillie's husband, Charles, in Roll Film Slitting.

Kodak Aids Comdr. Johnson On Colorful Films of Cruise

Ten miles of reeled Kodachrome movie film leaves little space for Comdr. Irving Johnson to navigate around his hotel room. But it comprises the most valuable record of a romantic 18-month venturesome persons who shared expenses and work.

Forty cameras were taken along by the 21 travelers, who included four women. Some of the shots taken on the first half of the trip were published in the National Geographic Magazine for January 1949. This part of the trip took them from Brixham, England, where the ship was outfitted, to Honolulu. It included the official beginning of the cruise from the home port, Gloucester, Maine, and visits to Pitcairn and other islands.

Most of his stay in Rochester was spent in Kodak Office editing and working with his movies. Aided by Phil O'Connor, Film Processing Dept., the commander prepared the reels for his countrywide lecture tour. He expects to begin it with an appearance in the Eastman Theater Sept. 28.

"Yankee Wander-world" will be the title of the travelogue. It will picture life aboard the Yankee and the ports of call on the cruise. The group making the trip included Johnson, Electa Search Johnson, who is a former Rochesterian, their two sons, and a group of adventuresome persons who shared expenses and work.

From Honolulu, the cruise was continued through the South Seas, seeing Borneo, Siam, Bali and many other storied places. In New Hebrides they took unusual movies of wild natives. The Solomons were photographed, showing the effects of the war.

Devil's Island furnished the voyagers with an opportunity to see some unusual sights. The penal colony is being closed down by the French, and Johnson's party was permitted to tour the place.

"The trip actually lasted 18 months and 4½ minutes," Johnson asserted. He laughingly explained that they time their trips carefully and he has been kidded about arriving back in Gloucester 4½ minutes later than planned.

"They'll wait a long time before I'll pay $25 for a pair of shoes—say, here's a cute pair for only $24.50!"

N.Y. Branch's New Home — This is the four-story structure now occupied by the New York Branch. It is located at 1334 York Ave. The building provides more spacious quarters and is more accessible to dealers. Water Shots Test Mettle Of Lensman Few scenic pictures appeal more to us than seascapes with their sunflecked waves, their rolling, crested breakers.

Because of this, vacationers are quick to try their hand at them... sometimes with results that fall far short of expectations. In general, views of this type are somewhat more difficult than landscapes. A broad expanse of sky and water often has no single, central point of interest.

Such a point of interest is important for good composition. A boat, a flight of sea birds, or a rock may do the trick. Or you may find that a great white pile of clouds or a crested wave will serve to capture interest.

Less Exposure

Exposure for marine scenes is not difficult. The important thing to remember is that less exposure will be needed than for most land subjects. A seascape with a boat in the foreground might require an exposure of 1/100 second at f/11. The same scene, with no foreground object, would require a smaller lens aperture, say f/16, with the same shutter setting.

Often in marine views you will find that back lighting helps. Coming across the water toward your camera, light will leave a dancing pattern of glinting waves to give life to your picture. Don't fail to shield your lens, however, from direct rays of the sun. This may be done by using a lens hood or by having someone hold his hand or hat so that it will cast a shadow on the lens. Be sure the shading object is outside the field covered by the lens.

The rules for seascapes hold good when making snaps at near-by lakes.

Water Snaps — Some of the most interesting snapshots possible are seascapes and others taken along the waterways. Back lighting often helps make them more effective by dappling the water with bright flecks of light.

Park Man Heads Technical Section Of Photo Society

New chairman of the Rochester Technical Section of the Photographic Society of America is Howard E. Smith, assistant superintendent of KP's Paper Service Dept. He succeeds Joseph L. Noble.

Several other Kodak members were named to office in the group. Vera B. Wilson, KO, was named secretary, and George T. Eaton, also of KO, executive secretary.

Among the members of the council are Dr. Louis Eilers and Richard O. Edgerton, KP, and Hubert Scheffy of KO.

A joint meeting of the new officers, the retiring staff and the councilors was conducted in the Chamber of Commerce. A program for the new year was discussed.

Gardiner, KP; Capt. David L. Willis, KP, and 1st Lt. Walter E. Shea, KP. The squadron will be deactivated as of July 1 and then will become a volunteer reserve unit.

EK Technical Representative Gets 25-Year Service Pin

Charles Heath, EK technical representative in the New England area, received his 25-year pin and Eastman Memorial Medal recently. The presentation was made by W. G. Homeyer, manager of the Boston Stores.

Heath began his Kodak career in May 1924, when he joined the old Robey-French Co. and served as an errand boy. In 1927 he became head of the Embossing Dept. and in 1930 took charge of the D&P Dept.

He transferred to Rochester in 1936 and later served in various localities in the Middle West as a technical representative. In 1946 he was assigned to the New England area. While working in the Boston Store, Charlie met and married Dorothy Frizzell, then one of the office stenographers.

Bowling Banquet Staged at Boston

The annual candlepin bowling banquet of the Boston Stores was held recently. Approximately 35 people, including guests of the team, enjoyed a delicious dinner and the floor show which followed.

Prizes were awarded to Ethel Reynolds and Jack Sullivan, high single; Betty Roemer and Eric Erickson jr., high average, and Frannie Caggiano and Bob Hawes, low average. The presentations were made by Store Manager W. G. Homeyer.

Girls of the Emulsion Melting Office, Bldg. 29, entertained Virginia Joyce at a bridal shower May 11. . . Marjorie Mohr has been appointed KODAKERY correspondent in Bldg. 34. . . Anita Moore and Otelia Thone, Time Office, recently spent a week's vacation at a dude ranch in the Catskills. Horseback riding and swimming were on the agenda. . . Dave Davenport, Paper Sensitizing, Bldg. 57, is taking his cue from the wide open spaces and building himself a ranch-type house in Webster. . . A party was held May 9 at Casa Lorenzo by girls of the Engineering Dept. for Ethel Curtis, Esther Hogan and Marie Vermiere, all of whom will soon be brides, and for Mary Clein who is planning to make housekeeping a full-time occupation. Corsages and gifts were presented to each of the honored guests, and musical entertainment was furnished by Marge Narrie and Florence Kelley. . . Charley Read, Wally King and Helen Radder have returned to their desks in the Printing Dept. after extended periods of illness. Ailing are Arthur Sanderson and Sam Kaufman. Sam is convalescing in Genesee Hospital following an operation. . . Dean Van Dussen, Film Planning & Record, recently attended a plastics convention held in Atlantic City.

James Evanoff, 39-Year Kodaker, Heads List Of Eight Kodak Park People Retiring June 1

Eight Kodak Park men retired from their duties June 1 after completing an average of 25 years' service. They are James H. C. Evanoff, Testing; Adrian J. Tuthill, Paper Sensitizing; Victor A. Carson, Paper Sensitizing; John M. Rogers, Film Emulsion; Edward J. Franklin, Film Emulsion; Henry E. Herbert, Roll Coating; Richard J. Burgess, Machine Shop, and Leolen A. Houghtling, E&M.

Evanoff first became associated with the Company in 1910, beginning his career at Kodak Office. In 1912 he became superintendent of the Park's Testing Dept., serving only in an advisory capacity the past several years. Evanoff was honored by his associates at a gala testimonial dinner June 1 at Brook-Lea Country Club.

Tuthill Here 31 Years

Tuthill has 31 years of continuous service with Kodak to his credit, starting in the Paper Sensitizing Coating Dept., Bldg. 35, in 1918. He was appointed a room supervisor in 1925 and has since served in that capacity. Some traveling and fishing are listed among his immediate plans for the future.

Also finishing 31 years is Carson, who, like Tuthill, began his career in the Paper Sensitizing Coating Dept. and has been a room supervisor since 1925. "Vic" intends to devote his spare time to picture taking, his favorite hobby.

Rogers started in the Emulsion Coating Dept. 27 years ago, transferring to Bldg. 42. For the past 23 years he has been connected with the Film Emulsion Dept.

Franklin, after joining Bldg. 50, was subsequently in Roll Coating and Film Emulsion to round out a quarter-century career. Ed and his wife are planning an extensive motor trip around the United States in their new automobile.

Herbert Ardent Angler

Herbert, who started in Emulsion Coating in 1923, also saw service in Black Paper Winding, and was a member of Roll Coating's Maintenance Division when he retired. An ardent fisherman, he is anticipating a busy summer at his Cape Vincent cottage.

Burgess was in Field Departments 2, 3 and 7 before transferring to the Machine Shop, where he served until his retirement. With his wife, Richard is planning a trip to California later this year. Houghtling started at the Park in 1936 and served as a millwright in F.D. 3 during his entire 12 years of service. Leolen is looking forward to moving to his cottage in Hammondsport on Keuka Lake which he is remodeling for year-round occupancy.

Camera Clubbers Eye Scenic Trip

Attention of Kodak Camera Club members is called to the scenic trip through the land of the Senecas being conducted by the National Railway Historical Society on Sunday, June 19. Some rare opportunities for fine camera shots are promised, and Kodakers are urged to get their tickets now, advises Earl Wallace, the club's activities chairman.

A special train, equipped with air-conditioned cars and dining facilities, will leave New York Central Station at 10:15 a.m., returning at 10:46 p.m. All reservations must be made by June 14. Individual tickets, priced at $5.95, may be obtained from Claude Winslow, Bldg. 23, Ext. 7245.

Quarters Moved For Color Prints

Effective June 6, color print service for Kodak Park people will be transferred to the Film Sales Office, third floor, Bldg. 28. This service has been handled by the Cashier's Office, Bldg. 26.

Paper Service Folks, Families See What Makes Dept. 'Tick'

Many Paper Service Dept. folks and their families enjoyed the "Open House" program conducted this week, during which numerous Paper Division operations were shown.

Listed on the itinerary was the fifth floor storage area representing paper at the completion of one stage of production. On the fourth floor were shown photostat machines used to test photostat papers in actual use, a chemical mixing room, machine shop, a dye transfer demonstration, and a supply room where results of photographic tests are stored.

On the third floor the visitors inspected the photographic control section and the chemical, microbiology and pulp laboratories. They also saw demonstration of the continuous processing machine which automatically develops, fixes, washes and dries prints at the rate of 2400 per hour. On the same floor are quarters for the Sensitometry Section and technical staff. The Kodacolor rack and tank processing rooms, an electronics laboratory and an exhibit of fluorescent photographs drew wide attention.

A microscopy section devoted to the analysis of unusual paper defects and a drying room featuring the Eastman Commercial Dryer in operation rounded out the tour.

Hygienists End Stay at Park

Some 12,000 Kodak Park people took advantage of the annual teeth-cleaning program.

Eastman Dental Dispensary hygienists completed their six-week stay at the Park yesterday. During that span they devoted half-days to the task. Twenty-five chairs were set up in the Bldg. 28 sub-basement to handle appointments.

Death Claims Darling

The death of John Darling, Fire Dept., occurred May 22 after an illness of several months. He came to KP in 1917, transferring to the Fire Dept. in 1932.

Video First-Nighters — Among the first KP people to acquire a television set were Mildred and Clarence Ernisse, shown above. The Ernisses plan a television party at their Dorsey Rd. home the night of June 11, on which date television comes to Rochester with the opening of Station WHAM-TV. Mildred is in the Plate Dept. and Clarence is with the Machine Shop Office.

EK Exhibit to Feature Medical Photography

"Picture the patient's progress" will be the theme of the Kodak exhibit at the 98th annual session of the American Medical Association in Atlantic City June 6-10.

Kodak's attractive display will feature applications in medical photography planned to interest the approximately 15,000 doctors who will attend.

The 30-foot display has two main divisions, photography and radiography.

Clinical Studies

The photography exhibit theme is illustrated by large Kodachrome and Ektachrome transparencies showing several interesting clinical studies and the patient's progress during various stages of treatment. Kodaslide Table Viewers will show medical slides.

The theme of the radiography or X-ray display is "Made to Work Together." It will feature a collection of interesting X-rays, along with the Kodak medical and X-ray film, Kodak X-ray intensifying screens, and Kodak X-ray processing chemicals. This exhibit holds special interest for the members of the American College of Radiology which is meeting in conjunction with the AMA.

Kodak Representatives

Those planning to attend from KO include Ted Pevear, George R. Struck, H. Lou Gibson, Charles Brownell, Dr. M. O. Zariquiey, Dr. Adrian Buyse, W. A. Withus and Julian Parvin.

Out-of-town Kodak technical representatives there will be Harlan Mercer, William H. Ramey, Norman Smith and Harold L. Hess.

A week after the AMA convention, Kodak will again be represented at a medical meeting—the Catholic Hospital Association, in St. Louis, from June 13-16. Bob Morrison, Medical Sales, Kodak Office, and Tom Finnegan, St. Louis, will be present to take care of Kodak's display.

Glasses Save Youth's Eye

Glad He Wore 'Em — Ben Lammes shows how nail broke and shattered lens in his safety glasses at KP. He escaped injury.

Foresight pays dividends where eyesight is concerned.

Benjamin Lammes is pondering his good fortune after a recent accident at KP which might easily have proved disastrous. Only the fact that he was wearing safety glasses at the time prevented a serious physical injury.

"I was driving a concrete nail through ribs in tile blocks on a job in Bldg. 6 when the accident happened," said Lammes. "The top of the nail sheared off from the impact of the hammer and struck the left lens of my glasses. The force of the nail broke the glass but my eye was uninjured."

KP Safety Dept. officials pointed out that this is another working example of the efficiency of safety glasses. They are used in all areas where any such danger exists.

'Hall of Fame' Honors Jones

"He was a 'dollar-a-year man' in the First World War, where his great talents were brought into play in the direction of campaigns that stirred Americans to a patriotic fervor that all who lived in those days will always remember."

The newly founded Advertising "Hall of Fame" will be located in the clubhouse of the Advertising Club of New York. There, a bronze plaque, photographs and citations of those chosen will be on permanent display. In each succeeding year a committee of judges may add not more than two names.

Came to EK in '92

Mr. Jones joined the Company in 1892, four years after Mr. Eastman had introduced the Kodak Camera. Advertising up to that time had been handled by Mr. Eastman.

In those years of the Company's early growth Mr. Jones was advertising manager and continued until 1921 when he became vice-president in charge of sales and advertising. He continued in that capacity until his death.

Mr. Jones also had been president of the Association of National Advertisers and was a founder and early president of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

Holiday in Boston — Catherine Czadzeck, left, of Dept. 57 at Camera Works, and Mary Wittman of Distribution and Planning Dept. at KO are pictured as they prepared for departure on Boston trip that extended over the holiday weekend. Catherine checks the timetable while Mary does some packing. Excursions through historical city were on the program.

EKers View Boston Sites Over Holiday

The sites of Boston, steeped in the history of early America, were the Memorial Day main bill of fare of a group of Kodak people.

Representatives of all of the divisions in Rochester made the trip over the holiday weekend. They left Rochester last Friday night, arriving in Bean Town the next morning. The return trip was made on Decoration Day evening.

Their stay in Boston was centered at the Parker House, one of the city's older and noted hostels. Excursions took the visitors to the historical spots in Boston and Charlestown.

Many of the Kodakers took advantage of the occasion to visit friends in Boston and vicinity. Others took time out from the regular program for a ball game or two, and Boston Harbor and the seacoast were attractions.

Homeland Visit Brings Joy, Sadness

A hearty welcome was given Aloys Schott, CW's Pattern and Forms Dept., when he recently visited Germany for the first time in 23 years. Schott was one of a group of 35 German-born Rochesterians who flew to the land of their birth for a few weeks' stay. Sadness mingled with joy made Al's 30-day visit an experience never to be forgotten. Ruins of once beautiful buildings he remembered as a boy, and family ties which had been severed during his span of absence, occasionally made him wish he had not made the trip.

Jubilant gatherings, meeting old friends, seeing the countryside in the bloom of early spring, and optimism among his people that there will be "no such thing as another war" pleased Al.

Among his many experiences was the fear that he would get too close to the Russian Zone. He always reminded his companions when out for a stroll or a ride that he was an American citizen on a visit and wanted to return to the States. On one occasion he received a scare when the car in which he was a passenger was stopped and he was requested to show his pass. Upon hearing his native language spoken by the border police, his fears subsided.

Bicycling and walking are the popular modes of travel, Schott explains. He walked more in 30 days in Germany than in his 23 years in this country, he said.

tered on its front is the result.

Nowadays in that building they're designing high vacuum units for the radio and television tube industry; for dehydrating blood plasma; for coating plastic, metal and fabrics with gold and silver, and for many other industrial uses.

As for the first little building that once held all the stills, machinery, laboratories and offices—six times the Engineering Dept. has come around with more steel and tile and cement and added on a new wing or extension. Finally it was decided to build a new plant for processing oils on Mt. Read Blvd. at the corner of Ridgeway Ave. Most of the vitamin distillation processes are gradually moving out there.

The vitamin business at DPI now also includes commercial production of synthetic Vitamin A, trade-marked MYVAX, developed in the research laboratories on the Ridge. Also produced there on the continually changed and improved stills are other oil products which are results of DPI research.

As for DPI's 27 pioneers (there were more originally but several have since left)—they became part of Kodak again last July when it was announced that the Company had bought General Mills' interest in DPI.

These are the DPIers who remember the DPI of 10 years ago yesterday: Earl Axon, Grove Baxter, Warren Barton, Percy Coomber, Dean Cox, Floyd Cuvelier, Norris Embree, Bob Edwards, Ken French, John Hecker, Frank Jenner, Bert Jollie, Fred Krasselt, Jerry Kunz, Harold Langdon, Edith Lyon, Eric McLean, Graham Mees, Tony Miller, Herb Rawlings, Charlie Robeson, Louis Lee, Ed Shantz, G. G. R. Smith, Charlie Soderbom, John Stanin and George Wait.

products can make our work easier by giving us all the technical data available," he added. "In this way the experimental factor is removed and we obtain better pictures."

Following luncheon in the service dining room, the party was taken on a tour of the plant. J. Winton Lemen, manager of the Company's Professional Film Sales Div., acted as host for the visitors.

Let's take a trip!

"WHERE'LL we go?"

That question will be asked over and over this summer as hundreds of Kodakers load their families into their cars for a weekend or a Sunday afternoon trip. Stay-at-home vacationers, too, planning a series of short jaunts, will be puzzling over where to take them. Well, as a matter of fact, there are a lot of places within driving distance of Rochester that are nationally and internationally famous. Sometimes these places are overlooked in the mad scramble for faraway places.

Historic spots abound in this area. Places of scenic beauty, known the world over, are practically just at Rochester's doorstep.

Here are just a few . . . there are countless others.

Niagara Falls is always fascinating. The trip could be a one-day affair or for the weekend.

1. Almost ready "to go" are Bernie Rausch, KO Shipping Dept., and family.
2. Louis Stork, H-E Plant Engineer's Office, and "the three girls" route their trip.
3. Packing up are Gene Miller, CW Dept. 63, and family.
4. Picnics are fun on trips, say Clyde Eddinger, DPI Organic Research Dept., wife and three children.
5. John Englert jr., KP Mfg. Expts., wife and John III wave good-by.

Old Holland Land Office at Batavia, now a museum. Interesting stop point on Niagara Falls trip.

Watkins Glen is one of the scenic wonders of America, with its 19 waterfalls and 200-foot cliffs.

The Finger Lakes Region is known far and wide for its beautiful scenery. Above is a view as the tourist enters Geneva, passing along the shores of Seneca Lake. Below, farm lands sloping to the shores of Canandaigua Lake, typical of the Finger Lakes country.

Hill Cumorah, near Palmyra, where the Angel Moroni is said to have revealed the golden plates of Mormon to Joseph Smith.

Painted Post Memorial in the town named for a red-painted oak post once erected by the Indians. Area rich in Indian lore.

Good Chinese Recipes Picked Up By KP Man During Far East Stay

Ku t'an t'ang may be all Chinese to you. But to Roy Bloom of the Paper Service Dept. in KP Bldg. 57 Ku t'an t'ang means Sweet Bones, an appetizing Chinese dish.

When Roy was in the China-Burma-India area from 1944 to 1946, he picked up many delectable Chinese recipes from restaurateur Charlie Wong. Most of them call for ingredients which can be had in this country. Roy, who cooks occasionally himself, and his wife find them pleasant diversions from American foods. Here are a few you may like to try.

KU T'AN T'ANG

2 lbs. small link sausage, 4 T. flour, 1 egg, 4 T. butter, ½ c. thinly sliced onion, 1½ c. thinly sliced celery, 2 c. water, 1 medium cucumber, 1 t. salt, ½ t. pepper, 1 T. lemon juice, 2 pimentos, ½ c. toasted almonds.

Cut link sausage into halves. Roll in flour, dip in slightly beaten egg and then in flour. Place butter in frying pan and when hot, but not smoking, brown sausage all over. Add onion and celery and cover with one cup water. Simmer gently for 20 minutes. Remove sausage and vegetables. Add peeled and finely diced cucumber, seasonings, and lemon juice with remaining cup of water to frying pan. Cover and cook 15 minutes. Add meat and vegetables to the cucumber, reheat, turn on to serving platter and garnish with pimentos and toasted almonds. Serves 6. This dish was prepared originally with strips of wild boar meat. Thus, any game meat can be substituted for the sausage.

CHI TAN SCRAMBLE

8-oz. can sliced mushrooms, 2½ c. canned bean sprouts, 6 eggs, ½ c. cream, ½ t. salt, dash of pepper, butter.

Drain liquid from mushrooms

Confusing — Roy Bloom usually finds it easier to read his Chinese recipes in English, but here's one he jotted down in Chinese script. He acquired the recipes for the tasty Chinese dishes while serving with the Army Medical Dept. in the Far East.

and bean sprouts, saving it for a future soup or sauce, if desired. Sauté mushrooms in butter to a light brown. Add bean sprouts and sauté a few minutes. Beat eggs with cream and seasoning for one minute. Cook in melted butter until a creamy consistency, stirring constantly. Place a mound of mushroom and bean sprout mixture on plate and serve scrambled eggs over it. Serves 6.

FRIED RICE

½ c. finely diced chicken, 2 T. peanut or salad oil, 1 3-oz. can sliced mushrooms, 1½ T. finely chopped green onion, 1 qt. cold cooked rice, 2 to 3 T. soya sauce, 1 beaten egg.

Cook rice the day before using and keep in refrigerator. Fry meat lightly in oil, add mushrooms, green onion, rice and soya sauce. Continue to cook over low heat 10 minutes. Add egg. Cook 5 minutes, stirring frequently. If darker color is wanted, add more soya sauce. Serves 6 to 8. Soya sauce is salty, so add according to taste.

For those wondering what to do with leftover meats, this is an ideal recipe. Any meat may be substituted for the chicken.

Wedding Ring Tradition—An Old, Old Story

The tradition of June brides will not lack for support from Kodak belles this year, if the announcements pouring into the KODAKERY Offices are any indication.

The subject of marriages, June or otherwise, inevitably gives rise to thoughts of rings. Earliest evidence of wedding rings is found in the tombs of the ancient Egyptians. The rings of the nobles were elaborate affairs, whereas those of the poor were often made of glass.

The giving of a ring to signify a betrothal was an old Roman practice. There is some historic evidence that the gold ring was introduced in the second century. In the days of Queen Bess, the betrothal ring was worn on the thumb.

About the Model

Dancing with her husband, Frank, is one pastime Lorraine Vanderbush, CW, enjoys most on weekends. Her hubby is a student at the U. of R. and they find it fun to attend fraternity dances.

Lorraine, who has been at Kodak since October 1948, also likes to knit, attend sports events. Her sister, Pluma Chapman, is a Camera Works girl too.

Sewing Plays Active Part In H-Eer's Life

Hawk-Eye's Lou Borrelli may not be as adept at whipping up dress creations as France's famous Dior, but she does have more than average aptitude for working with needle and thread, and has a whole wardrobe to show for it.

Lou's dressmaking career started while she still was attending grammar school and has played an active part in her life ever since. Her creations cover all phases in the clothing line from play clothes to filmy gowns for "that special dance."

Her uncle, who is a tailor, helps her on more intricate patterns for coats and suits. Helpful hints absorbed during these lessons are stored away for future reference.

Her ability to sew was called upon time and again during her high school years when she was on "24 hour call" for the costume committees. When her class presented the operetta "Waltz Dream" by Strauss, she whipped 21 costumes together in fine fashion—so fine, in fact, that they were used at the Eastman Theater a year later for the pageant "Ring, Freedom, Ring."

One of her costumes was returned for alterations some time later, and the addition of a few ruffles and the now-popular bustle brought about an old-fashioned style. The dress was used for display purposes in a leading downtown store as a typical fashion style of by-gone years.

Louise prefers completing a dress from start to finish rather than to alter, although the alteration knack comes quite naturally to her. Present plans include finishing touches on an extensive summer wardrobe, with fall clothes to follow.

Crochet It Yourself

You can wear this pretty flower-decked hat right through the summer with suits and prints and cotton dresses. It's crocheted of shiny pink cotton. A band of gold joins crown and brim. For free directions, stop in at your KODAKERY Office or drop a post card to KODAKERY, 343 State St.

CW Girl Renews Family Ties, Visits Friends in Germany

A spring sun warmed the town of Regensburg when Emily Dorfner stepped from the German train and was welcomed by her family. The bright-eyed Camera Works girl, a member of the Magazine Assembly Dept., had been away from home for 2½ years.

"Wonderful, but a little too

short," was Emily's comment on the 30-day visit she made to Germany. She flew there with a group of 35 other Rochesterians. Emily was accompanied by her aunt and uncle who have been in Rochester for 22 years and with whom Emily lives.

Born in Rochester, Emily traveled with her parents to their homeland when she was 2½ years old. She was educated in Germany and returned to the United States by herself when she was 17. The teen-age girl speaks English remarkably well and is attending evening school, where she studies English and grammar.

Her visit was concerned mainly with renewing family ties and visiting old friends. "We had big parties with many, many people," she said enthusiastically. There were also dances, trips to the theater and short journeys to the countryside to visit friends. And there were intimate family gatherings too, for Emily had lots to talk about with her parents, her sister Martha, and her brothers Willy and Bruno.

"Food is reasonably plentiful in Germany," the young CW girl reported. "Potatoes are the main staple. Of course vegetables such as broccoli and iceberg lettuce are unknown there."

"You can easily tell when a woman has a new dress or coat because her skirts are longer than the others," she continued. "The new look is just coming in and most of the women's clothes are still quite short. The shops are showing long skirts now but prices are so high that few people can afford to buy new clothes."

Emily brought back several souvenirs from Germany — some were gifts and some she bought. High prices dissuaded her from making many purchases — one of the figurines she has cost 200 marks, which is about $75. Emily also has some beautiful vases and a lovely tablecloth.

The young traveler spent three weeks with her family in Regensburg. "The weather was warm," she recalled. "Tulips were opening, lilacs were in bloom — it was lovely." From there she left for Nuremberg, where she visited an uncle and two aunts. "I had planned to travel to Munich also," added Emily, "but the days went so fast that I didn't have time."

Now the 19-year-old miss has returned to her friends and relatives on this side of the Atlantic.

Going Formal? —

White's so popular this year . . . and it's being seen a great deal in formal gowns. Here, Lorraine Vanderbush, CW Dept. 37, models a Sibley's dress, featuring an effective combination of waffle pique and organdy, alternated in the skirt. It has a mandarin collar, cap sleeves and a row of tiny buttons at the bodice closing.

Shipping, Branch Cop KO Openers

Dick Maccio's Shipping nine and John Scheible's Rochester Branch team notched victories as KO's Intraplant Softball League inaugurated the 1949 season May 25 at Brown Square.

Paul Mastrella gained a mound decision over Dom Defendis as Shipping made the most of a big third-inning rally to beat Repair, 7-6. Wildness proved the Repair hurler's downfall, and after he had doled out seven free tickets to first, Manager Harry Muar relieved Dom. Herb Schumske banded out two for five.

The Branch Bombers outslugged the Penpushers, 9-7, as Ralph Hagen survived a last-inning rally to win out over Ray Cooper. The latter poled a tremendous home run in the fourth, and teammate Buddy Downs hit for the circuit with two on to spark the four-run seventh inning uprising. Fran Biggs had a perfect night at the plate, cracking out three hits for the winners.

Sports Roundup

Baseball Scouts Eye Fraser; Robinson in U.S. Open Trial

The Don Fraser who has attracted the attention of big league scouts this spring at Charlotte High is a son of Eddie Fraser, supervisor of maintenance service at KO. The 18-year-old right-hander ended his schoolboy career last Friday with a 4-and-1 season record. In six games he whiffed 66, gave up only 22 hits, allowed but 11 runs and walked 20. . . . The only Rochester area entrant in this week's qualifying round for the United States Open Golf Championship was Gene Robinson, CW linksman. Locust Hill was the scene of the trials.

Receiving prizes at the Finger Lakes Skeet League banquet were the following KPAA Gun Club members: William DeHollander, Howard Edmondson, William Holland and Alfred Jentsch. The KP club finished third in the league's standings for the season just concluded.

Deadline for all entries in the KPAA's first golf tournament of the season, scheduled for the LeRoy Golf Club June 11, is noon of June 7. Prizes in three classes again will be given to top winners.

Interesting events and personalities featured the official opening of the KPAA Ridge Noon-Hour League May 23 on the School No. 41 diamond.

Ray Englert, master of ceremonies, introduced several guests, including Bing Devine, general manager of the Rochester Red Wings; Ralph Cogswell, principal of School No. 41; Frank Kane, Ridge loop president; George Patterson, representing Dr. John Norris, president of the KPAA, and J. Henry Parker, head of the KP

Nasca, H-E Nip KO, 2-1; Dusties, Kaypees Victors

Kodak Park's two entries—the Kaypees and Dusties—tacked second victories onto their season records, and Hawk-Eye opened the campaign by edging Kodak Office in the Major Industrial Softball League's second week of play.

Red Warner was the man of the hour in the KP Dusties' 2-1 win over Hickok, singling home Art Guentner in the eighth inning to break up the ball game. Joe Snook spun a four-hitter.

A four-run first inning gave the Kaypees a 4-0 shutout over Bausch & Lomb as Bud Oister tossed a neat two-hitter. Tom Castle hit a homer with a mate aboard, and Ralph Woodhall tripled home two runs to account for the scoring.

Nasca Stingy

Pete Nasca hurled the H-E Softballers to a 2-1 victory over KO, setting the losers down with 2 hits. The two clubs went into the fifth inning with a 0-0 ball game when H-E broke the deadlock in their half as Jimmie Hanselman crossed the plate on Corky Schwind's double. Kodak Office bounced back to tie the score in the sixth, but Pete Mistretta slid across with the winning marker in the H-E sixth on a close play at the plate.

Camera Works suffered its first defeat at the hands of Wollensaks, 4-3. Ed Mayer and Howie Chandler divided the pitching chores for CW.

In the Mail — Some 4100 registration blanks for the 1949 KPAA Boys' Softball Program went into the mail last week. Bunny Ellsworth, above, of the KPAA Office, is shown preparing the envelopes. Deadline for registrations is June 11.

Bears Grab Ridge Lead

Abe Ver Crouse's Bears annexed two victories to take the lead in the KPAA Ridge Noon-Hour League.

The Bears, with Roy Sill and Herb Jennings on the mound, topped the Bisons, 7-1, in a well-played game. Ken Scott toiled for the losers.

The Royals and the Wings battled to a 3-3 deadlock on May 25, with Pero clouting a home run for the Royals.

On May 26, the Bears made it two straight by downing the Royals, 2-0, with Bob Lux, Larry Carbone and Sill, the pitcher, wielding heavy sticks. Standings:

Estimators Top H-E Golf Loop

The Estimators, with Lou Kenyon and Arnold Wells showing the way, jumped into first place in the H-E Twilight Golf League by trouncing the Accounting links-men by a 15½-2½ count. Dept. 30, paced by Hugh Marks and Rudy Elliott, moved into second place when they edged the Final Inspectors, 10½-7½. The Duffers, leaders in the first week of play, lost ground by dropping a 13-5 decision to the Personnel foursome.

Racqueteers — All eyes, and smiles too, are these eager KPAA Girls' Tennis Program hopefuls who are reporting for instruction every Wednesday evening in the Bldg. 28 gym. Phil Michlin, Hawk-Eye tennis and badminton ace, shown at the extreme right, is instructing the girls, assisted by an expert staff of local players.
