COLLEEN MAHER BONAR

Colleen is proud to be a Rochesterian. She has been a popular singer/actress in Rochester theatre productions for nearly 15 years with companies such as Blackfriars, RCP Youth theatre, University of Rochester Summer Theatre and Stage III. Colleen also has performed at the Priory Theatre in New York City, but says she'd rather be here. When this lady of awesome vocal power explains that she'd Rather Be In Rochester, you find that you believe her. When she's not on stage, she's chair of the English Department at Wheatland-Chili High School.

STUART BURKE

Along with Haber, Stuart was one of the originators of Show-A-Matic. He has also worked in many industrial films and videotapes and has appeared in a variety of local theatre productions. He's a real nut about live entertainment in Rochester. Do you suppose he's referring to the way he might shun popular video games in favor of something like his recent attempt to set a record number of drives through the Can of Worms in one snowy rush hour? We're glad he's still alive in Rochester! Stuart's a native Rochesterian who's traveled all over the world, but is always glad to be home.

Happy Birthday Rochester!!

UPSTATE LITHO joins the community in celebrating Rochester's Sesquicentennial. In the past 150 years, our once small mill town has grown into a prosperous international, industrial center.

In keeping with our Rochester heritage, Upstate Litho has also grown. After more than 25 years in the Rochester area, we've developed into a printing firm with outstanding capabilities and a reputation built on quality and service.

UPSTATE LITHO is proud to have played a part in the growth and development of the Rochester we all know today.
