Town and Village Histories

Many of the villages of Monroe County and every town, except Riga, have had their origins documented in various publications. These histories vary greatly in length and usefulness to the genealogist. But what researcher can resist looking for his ancestors in the index of any book? Very few of these have been scanned and put online. Those that are online have links on the title. Other books have a link to the listing on WorldCat that shows what libraries the book is in.

There are also a series of books with old pictures of area locations as part of the "Images of America" series. Those are linked to in the chapter Pictures of Monroe County.
